CROCKETT COURIER: JANUARY 11, 1951

PROCEEDINGS IN DISTRICT COURT

District Judge V. Melvin Johnston of Palestine was here Monday, presiding in Houston county district court. Among other things, divorces were granted in the following cases:

Elwanda Thedford vs. Howard W. Thedford.

Frances Parker Hamlin vs. Harold Hamlin.

Judge Johnston returned a verdict in favor of the defendants in an injunction suit, styled C. B. Rains et al. vs. Crockett Independent School District et al.

The suit sought to revoke annexation of the Post Oak common school district by the Crockett Independent School District under the Gilmer-Alkin school law. Hearing held by the court earlier and attorneys had filed briefs.

Mrs. Nell Bandy of Athens, court reporter, was also in attendance on the district court here.

Red Chain Feeds
In CROCKETT

Service
You should be taking advantage of the unusual services that are provided RED CHAIN feed customers. There is a specially trained Red Chain Service man in your section . . . a man who by education and special training is qualified to render you valuable assistance. He is prepared to help you in the culling and selection of your poultry flocks and to give you helpful suggestions on all management and feeding problems. This service is absolutely FREE.

QUALITY
Are you looking for a bargain in feed prices? What is a feed bargain anyway . . . is it the price you pay or the value you get for the price you pay?

RED CHAIN FEEDS GET RESULTS
ASK . . . Lloyd Robinson of Big Spring, Texas, if Red Chain feeds really get results. Lloyd produced the grand champion steer calf of the Chicago International Livestock Exposition on the Red Chain feeding program.

ASK . . . Any one of the hundreds of other club boys throughout the Southwest who have built their calves, lambs and pigs into champions on the Red Chain feeding program.

ASK . . . Any of the top winners in the last two Texas Farm and Home Egg Laying Contests, all of whom developed their laying flocks on the Red Chain feeding program.

ASK . . . Either of the three men who have won the last three Texas ton-litter contests. Each of these men developed his winning litter on the Red Chain feeding program.

ASK . . . Mr. W. S. Carpenter of Hobbs, N. M., if he thinks it pays to feed Red Chain. Last spring he won the milk producing contest at the Plainview Dairy Show . . . on the Red Chain feeding program.

It is not our business merely to sell you a bag of feed now and then. Our business is to provide you with a Red Chain feeding and management program that will help you make more money out of your feeding operations. . . These programs are based on facts . . . not on theories. They have been tested and proved.

Let us furnish you with the program that fits your operations. The various points in each program are outlined in full detail . . . and they are absolutely FREE.

DANCING TEACHER
RESUMES
CLASSES

After spending the holidays in San Antonio, Miss Amory Oliver has resumed her work as an instructor in dancing. Miss Oliver has studied dancing at the American Ballet school in New York for four years, and was also a teacher at an Arthur Murray school.

She taught in Boston for three years, and has had considerable work in teaching dancing as a profession. Miss Oliver is quite enthusiastic about her classes in dancing here. She has fourteen pupils in her baby class, two ballet pupils and two groups of high school pupils taking lessons. In talking with Miss Oliver she said: "I enjoy working with these groups very much, and I find all of them attentive and eager to learn the steps."

Miss Oliver is the sister of Mrs. Dan McLean of this city, and has won many friends while living here.
