CITY MACHINES FIGHT BACK

The Democratic party as rebuilt by Franklin D. Roosevelt and perpetuated by Harry S. Truman faces a big rescue job in the large cities of the country.

Beyond doubt the Kefauver crime investigation has dealt the city bosses of the North and East a body blow, which has come to light in the corruption and complacency of a day, and the management of the elected officials has been shocked and many persons who chose previously to ignore what was happening under their noses.

It will be difficult for the present machines to re-establish their domination between now and 1948. The effort is under way, however, and the vehicle which is being used is the American for Democratic Action.

This rather minute but well organized body of left wing Democrats has sprung into action. Full page advertisements expressing indignation at what has been revealed have been inserted in newspapers. One would think that the A. D. A. had never been involved with the New York City leaders who have now been smirched; that its members had not been perfectly content to work with the gangsters and hoodlums and support the same candidates who were picked and aided by the racketeers.

A housecleaning is called for, insists the A. D. A., and appoints itself to that end. The move is a blatant attempt to cover up the part that these boss-ridden machines have played in the national crime picture. The A. D. A. is part and parcel of the alliance of minority groups and underlings by the big city politicians to create a hybrid Democratic party in which the original political principles of those who founded it have been swallowed up.

The South and Southern Democrats have been the victims of this strange national coalition in which the corrupt Southern city bosses have had undue influence. It is the duty of this part of the country not to be misled by the cry of outraged innocence which came from those who cannot escape their share of the guilt for what the Kefauver committee has revealed. If You Wash for Twins

Two to make ready?

When there is a pair of babies in the home, Mother needs to be a quick change artist. She has to keep up with their daily needs, demand for clean clothes. And she must also have time for all of the other duties that go with bringing up babies. Since the youngest set demands not only comfort but also convenience, Mother must plan her day's activities carefully.

And the one household tool that figures most prominently in her plan for a happy household is the family washing machine. It is a vital essential to the health and happiness of every family. With this indispensable "helper" at her disposal, the modern mother is able to supply the constant demand for clean clothes and still have plenty of time and energy to devote to raising her family.

It is a good idea to wash babies' bibs and tuckers daily to keep them clean and sweet-smelling. Wash their little bodies and their little hands. Always use baby clothes with finished seams. Raglan sleeves give babies more freedom of movement. Gowns that open all the way down the front are easier to put on and off. Avoid buying baby clothes with frills and laces around the neck. Tenders are irritating to young skin. Never starch baby clothes.

Cotton wrappers, knit shirts, and flannel nightgowns are easy to wash for a very short period.

Twins are a double delight, but there's double the laundry, too. It's easy to keep up with the freewasher when you have an electric washer machine. The modern washer takes the labor out of washing. It is essential, in the same manner as the washing machine, to the health and happiness of the American home.

Daily laundries of tiny dresses and slips will keep them fresh and clean and like new. Always use a mild soap or detergent and wash and flannel nightgowns are easy to wash for a very short period.

IN REVIEW OF PRODUCTION ACCOUNTING

By J. E. Patterson

Editor's Note: About four years ago J. E. Patterson, Western News, published a series of articles on production accounting. In view of the fact that the industry has changed so much since that time, it is thought that a review of the work in a new series of articles.

Times have changed. Just a few years ago we were talking in terms of $1 and $4 per hour for productive time in printing plants. Hiring back shop men at weekly wages ranging from $14 to $16 was easy. We worked long weeks.

Today we must sell productive time at a rate from $3 to $8 per hour and pay wages rates from $10 to $16 for 40 hours.

Many publishers have met the challenge, but it is surprising the number in the weekly and small-sized field who have failed to adjust selling costs to meet the situation.

Experiences of scores of country newspapermen are incorporated in this discussion. These words seek to reflect views on a subject which has been discussed at nearly every press meeting in both advertising and subscription rates in the weekly field.

Several questions seem uppermost. What is the true basis for advertising rates? How do we establish a variance in both advertising and subscription rates in the weekly field?

Others are asking why it is with a 10-page paper loaded with ads, it is making less money than a few years ago with a square paper. Why?

There is the true story of the salesmen who drove up alongside a new Mercury parked in front of a small town newspaper office. The publisher, Mr. W. H. Long, was asked by the salesman, "What's the price of this car?" "It's a Mercury," he replied. "What's the price of this car?" "It's a Mercury," he replied.

It developed that the owner of the business got less "take home pay" than the man running the backshop. Why? He simply was not charging enough.

George Yeager of Houston was a weekend visitor with relatives and friends in Crockett.
