BOSSSES, BUREAUCRACT AND

The biggest issue now facing the which would give the Federal government

[uncertain] and other sources of capital.

Here is [hte] [uncertain] moat telling argument against such proposals as a punitive excess profits" tax. The major damage done by that tax would not be borne hy industry and [ite] [uncertain] stockholders. It would be burner by the [con-°] [uncertain] sunsets of he nation, who would [be]®] [uncertain] faced with

[F] [uncertain] reduce opportunity for

WHEN INCENTIVE IS SMALL.

It seems to be axiomatic that the greater the degree of socialization or government domination of, [publee] [uncertain] health measures, the fewer practitioners there are to do the

Thus, according to Time, Russia [hse]
[uncertain] but one dentist for 14,000
[people—'] [uncertain] and [Russian] [uncertain] marks the ultimate in [pocialisation] [uncertain] of all phases of medicine. Beitain, which has gone a long way toward complete socialization, has one [dentiat,] [uncertain] for each [S571] [uncertain] people. The! United States, with [ile] [uncertain] tradition of free medicine, has one for each [1885] [uncertain] af the population.

[Various] [uncertain] reasons account for this condition. One [vrey] [uncertain] obvious one ip that m a country where bureaucracy rune the show, there is [hritle] [uncertain] incentive for men and women tw go through the arduous schooling necessary to become doctor or a dentist. The financial rewards, even for the most brilliant and hard-working, are severely limited by the stale. Oppor[tunity] [uncertain] for research [»] [uncertain] small and media cal men must deal with masses of forme and other red tape which de- hands hours that should be given to their patients. And, inevitably ad[vancement] [uncertain] goes pot td the t cum- [petent,] [uncertain] tut to [thoer] [uncertain] who [arr] [uncertain] best able to curry favor with the [itiae] [uncertain] ad- [ministrators,] [uncertain] or [whegalin] [uncertain] seniority through the mere fact of age.

Americans [atandards] [uncertain] of [Health.] [uncertain] far, superior as they are to those of Rus- [aia] [uncertain] or England, provide the shoat per- suasive argument for the rete ton of medical freedom.

And yet there is now a well [olled] [uncertain]

Federal program to put American me- [tlieine] [uncertain] pn the aside toward the Rus- sian and European pattern

LABOR AND RESTRAIN OF TRADE.

A newspaper [receftly] [uncertain] made ts in-

Leresting comment: If the mine ow- [ars] [uncertain] were [organised] [uncertain] merely to set uniform, fixed price for coal, the gov- [ernment] [uncertain] would proceed under axist- [ang] [uncertain] statutes to send [thése] [uncertain] men to jail for conspiring in restraints of trade. What the onion is in a [pesition] [uncertain] to dv ia much more damaging It ie organized to tell the nation that it:

The arrogance of the United Mine Workers Ip without bounds fits most recent act, in calling two-week stop- page because of [tion] [uncertain] to a man who was [sppoin] [uncertain] to the Federal States with the consent of the senate.

Dut this is not good enough for the United Mine Workers." It ap es wishes to be the arbiter of who [aXall] [uncertain] hold office and who shall not.

The United Mine Workers" policy provides the beat possible argument in favor of laws which [wil} restealn] [uncertain] labor excesses against the public in- [terest.] [uncertain] If [thia] [uncertain] union hae the power jw stop production of vital [rraource Tauch] [uncertain] as coal, it can [wndremine] [uncertain] our industrial stability and national [aesPeurity] [uncertain] at will.
