one student of the problem, The outstanding fact e that, while everybody talks [sbout] [uncertain] ft, no widespread changes have as yet taken place. In years of plenteous feed supply farmers pour corn into their butcher hogs to bring many up to 300 to 350 pounds. Oftrn-times these bogs carry a quilt of fat over four inches thick with very little added growth in the muscular core of the animal." The solution to the problem lies in raising

KEEPING THE PUBLIC BUYING.

One of the leading retail [ansoclational] [uncertain] reports that, for the first [eix profits were badly off. Department [storva] [uncertain] of various sises showed a net profit after taxes of from lead than one pet cent to a top of 2.1 per cent The earnings of specialty [abops] [uncertain] were also down [beavily,] [uncertain] as compared with last year.

In the words of the associations bulletin, These results indicate that the stores recognize bow important it la to keep the public buying, even at the sacrifice of considerable profit After the easy-come sales volume of the war years, and the early postwar years, it is remarkable to see how quickly the stores have adjusted [themacres] [uncertain] to the changing conditions. From a period when sales promotion effort was scarcely needed, the [atores] [uncertain] hare jumped into the strongest kind of promotional effort."

Keeping the public buying is, of course, the most Important factor in maintaining our living standards and our prosperity. Masa production and mass distribution are the foundations of the American economy. They give us employment, opportunity, good wages. And retailing is superbly geared to handle and distribute the a quantities of goods that flow to it [frem] [uncertain] industry and agriculture.

From the consumers" [standpolat,] [uncertain] the report on store net profits should be revealing. [It] [uncertain] is clear that retail [pricea] [uncertain] are being held, in the great majority of instances, to as low point as possible. The profit on each sale is tiny, and stores depend on mass [pelling] [uncertain] to [carn] [uncertain] them reason- able total profit for the year. That is cued business for [retailing—and] [uncertain] st guarantee aw good deal [fcr] [uncertain] the consumer.
