SETS HOLSING RECORD.

Americas postwar housing boom makes good case against federal interference in [thia] [uncertain] field. In the last two years, with material and labor more plentiful, free enterprise has set a new record in construction.

The postwar peak was reached in May of last year. After a dip in the latter part of the year, construct.

[tion] [uncertain] has been rising every month since the beginning of last year. In September 100,000 new homes [wrre] [uncertain] started, setting a new record fur the month. About a fourth of the homes built the year are being offered for rent, compared with fifth last year. Metropolitan Dalles has not been holding back in wait for [federa]] [uncertain] hand- [outa.] [uncertain] Builders here have been going ahead on their own initiative and have had a large part in the housing doom. This year 6,760 dwellings have

b bean started [inthe] [uncertain] Dallas area. [Although] [uncertain] this ie slightly smaller [figyjure] [uncertain] than that for the same l test year, construction in Auguat and [September] [uncertain] showed a gain and was [liabead] [uncertain] of that for the same months [diy] [uncertain] lest year. This gain probably re- [flecte,] [uncertain] in part, the lifting" of rent [contrul.] [uncertain] Recent comparisons hare shown ti that private enterprise [bullds] [uncertain] homes more quickly than do the housing authorities sponsored by the govern- torn it docs not have to wait for red tape to be untangled and docs not have to pay an army of federal- tired supervisors. It also builds homes [lof] [uncertain] higher quality and greater durability. Federal housing in [main>] [uncertain] yote-catching device. It builds homes that seem cheaper only be- cause 6 large part of their cost is loaded on the already burdened shoul- hers of the [taxpayer.—Dallas] [uncertain] News.
