Death came on December 6, 1868, to Jefferson Davis, hero of the Mexican War, president of the Confederacy and friend of Texas and Texans throughout his [publie] [uncertain] life. A colonel in the Mexican War, Davis commanded Mississippi troops at Buena Vista and Monterrey. His military strategy at Buena Vista has long been used in texts as an outstanding example of initiative and daring. Texas troops fought with him in this engagement. A [monument:] [uncertain]
