IFIRST [CHRISTIAN (CHURCH) [uncertain] IS SCENE BAILEY-HARTT VOWS

Miss Betty Joan Hartt, daughter of [Mr.] [uncertain] and Mrs. Jack Theon Hartt of Baytown, and Connie James Bailey

Jr, son of Mr and Mrs. C. J. Bailey

Sr, also of Baytown, were married last night in an impressive candle- light ceremony solemnized in the First Christian church at 8 p m. with

Crockett Courier — July 6, 1950

Rev. J. M. Gordon of Beaumont, uncle of the groom, officiating.

A fan motif was accentuated in the church decor with wedding vows being exchanged before a huge white French tulle fan with stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley against a background of greenery and Southern smilax. The altar was banked with [woodwardia] [uncertain] fern and small white fans were placed at intervals along the chancel rail.

Lighted white tapers in petal holders repeating the fan motif [wero] [uncertain] placed along the pews marking the bridal aisle laid with a white satin runner.

Tapers in four white wrought iron candelabra lighted the nuptial setting.

The organist, Miss Louise Himes, played I [Love You] [uncertain] Truly" as Mr and Mrs. Neal Knox of Conroe, aunt and uncle of the bride, lighted the candles. A song traditional in the brides family, For You," was sung by Misses Alma Loyce and Betty Joyce Knox, twin cousins of the bride. Robert Jimerson as wedding soloist sang Because" preceding the ceremony and The Lords. Prayer" as benediction. Liebestraum"" was played by Miss Himes throughout the [wed-}] [uncertain] ding ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown [fashion-}] [uncertain] ed of imported Renaissance lace" for the bodice and a cascading skirt of French tulle which extended into a cathedral length train. The fitted bodice with scalloped waistline was embroidered with seed pearls, Her veil of French illusion fell from a headpiece repeating the seed pearl trim. She wore an antique cameo necklace of the grooms grandmother. The, bridal bouquet was of white de- [tavhable] [uncertain] orchids, white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Clifford Pennington of Crockett.was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kerwin Stewart, sister of the groom, Misses Alma Loyce and Betty Joyce Knox, Mrs. Drexell Vincent and Mrs. Kirk Busch. [All"] [uncertain] of the feminine attendants were gowned in melon red nylon tulle over taffeta fashioned with strapless [fit-}.] [uncertain] ted bodice, full flowing skirts and nylon, stoles, They carried French fans with stephanotis [and_lily-of-thevalley.] [uncertain]

Wally Bond of Baytown was the grooms, best man: Groomsmen were Kerwin Stewart, Ted McCall, Euclid Norris, George Lawrence and [Jack] Robbins] [uncertain] of Huntsville. Bubba Swain and Neal Knox served as ushers, [The] [uncertain] flower girl was Pamela McLean of Crockett.,cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Hartt wore a ballerina length dress of palomino lace with full skirt and bertha collar made over rose beige taffeta. She wore an original hat of matching French tulle and palomino lace gloves. Her flowers were rose vanda orchids. Mrs. Baileys dress was ballerina length of navy blue lace with matching hat of velvet and lace gloves. She wore a corsage of [Bow] [uncertain] roses.

SEVENTH DISTRICT HAS CENSUS LOSS

Dallas News.

The Seventh Congressional District in East Texas lost 62,230 residents in the past decade, complete preliminary figures disclosed.

Grimes county, the-last in the 12county district to report, lost 7,023 persons,

Crockett Courier — July 6, 1950

dropping from 21,960 in 1940 to 14,987,

Navasota, the county seat, followed the county trend by dropping 1,162 from 6,738 to 4,976.

By slumping from 299,721 to 247,- 491 during the decade, the [Seventh] [uncertain] district became the hardest hit of all the East Texas districts which reported declines. Montgomery and Walker counties were the only ones to show increases, and those were slight.

The Fourth district lost 32,374, the Sixth dropped 35,525, the First lost 30,437 and the Third 22,538,

All are primarily agricultural counties in the area stretching northward from the industrial Beaumont-Port Arthur area to the Red River,

The breakdown, by counties, of the Seventh district.
