Miss Vee Mims has been authorized to solicit for the catalogue of the annual American Legion Fair, to be held here in September. This year no advertising will be run, although several pages will be set aside to list names of contributors toward the catalogue.

Don't Know War Is Over.

Enough Worries Already.

The Crockett editor has to worry enough with old worries without taking on new worries to worry over. He is leaving the new worries to the self-proclaimed and self-styled progressive element—the inexperienced fellows who have not yet learned that experience is our greatest teacher.

Dear Sir:

Please send me a copy of the Crockett Courier—the one that tells all about the old fiddlers' contest—just send me one copy. I think the old fiddlers' contest is the best vacation a man or woman ever took. I have been coming over there for three years—1948, 1949 and 1950. Mr. Tunstall sent me a lot of circulars, and I mailed them out to my friends in fourteen different counties. As ever,

DAVY CROCKETT TRINITY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION

District cooperators have been very busy harvesting seed of singletary peas, oats, vetch and Persian clover during the past two weeks.

According to early estimates about 150,000 pounds of winter legume seed (mostly singletary peas) were harvested.

Frank Callier had 8 acres of singletary peas that yielded 820 pounds per acre.

Hollis Beall harvested about 800 pounds of Persian clover seed under very unfavorable conditions. Heavy rains shattered the seed and beat the vines down on the ground, making harvest very difficult.

Dr. C. M. Griswold harvested about 20,000 pounds of singletary peas and oats on plantings he had made for pasture improvement.

Woodrow Patrick harvested 15,000 pounds of singletary peas on 40 acres of second year volunteer peas.

Other district cooperators, too numerous to mention, have harvested seed and many of them will have a surplus to sell.

A farm pond was constructed this week on Roy Little's farm near the Lock and Dam bridge. Mr. Little is also cutting some new drainage ditches with a dragline at this time.

Conservation Sam Siz: "Make plans for fall plantings of winter legumes and grasses as early as possible. Seed supplies will be short."
