ed! NO MORE BLANK CHECKS, i st
The bureaucratic thirst for power [for] [uncertain] does not diminish. When the mili- [tary] [uncertain] assistance proposal was first sent [us] [uncertain] congress by the Truman [adminisot] [uncertain] ration it contained a blank check" on provision authorizing the executive [do] [uncertain] branch of the government to supply yf [Q&nis] [uncertain] wherever and whenever it saw f [1e,{] [uncertain] fit to any free nation,"

The legislative branch of the [gov- nef ernment] [uncertain] rejected any such delegation y of authority to the president. This a did not prevent the same grant of [ige] [uncertain] Power from being requested when the ve authorization for a second years [apig appropriation] [uncertain] to arm our democratic al- lies was sent to congress, Senator Vandenberg was quick to [y-] [uncertain] Point out that the blank check" [pro- se] [uncertain] Vision went too far. Secretary. [of] [uncertain]

Defense Louis Johnson as speedily acknowledged the language might be too broad. Evidently [thé] [uncertain] president and his ad- [visers believe] [uncertain] in the ancient maxim of the racetracks: You cant be ruled off for trying." Some day, they rea- son, the guardians in congress may be looking the other Way- and then the [excutive] [uncertain] branch will have the [au-] [uncertain] [thority] [uncertain] to distribute arms all over the world.

It has been hinted that the section of [thé] [uncertain] authorization bill under attack was inserted so that we might come to the aid of Jugoslavia in the event of Russian aggression in that quarter.

If that is what behave in mind, let us say so. There is certainly no re- [maining] [uncertain] secret ag to our determina- [tion] [uncertain] to halt any further Russian ex- passion. The world is aware of the fact that We are helping Tito in every way possible. If we mari to supply him with arms let us do so with the advice and consent of congress, not when some individuals in the executive branch of the government decide that the time has come.

These broad grants of power must be stopped. If they are not the ad- vent of dictatorship, it cannot be far off under such a policy. The people cannot retain their freedoms by sur- rendering them to those who. [have.no] [uncertain]

LONE CONSUMER,

Commenting upon the new upsurge in building costs, several economists have pointed to the present vulnerable situation with respect to inflation. Organized labor asks for ware increases and gets them with Httle opposition because contractors know that they can pass the cost along to the public. There is still a large demand [for:] [uncertain] homes, so [publie] [uncertain] buying is not [in] [uncertain] position to resist the price [incnense.] [uncertain] As a result of this situation, both wages and costs are going ahead [rap-'] [uncertain] idly in the vitally important construction industry,

This sort of slick working of [the:] [uncertain] inflation spiral is peculiarly adaptable to the construction industry, but it is found in a degree in many other lines pf commerce. It works exceptionally well after a war which, by stopping production of civilian goods, has created demand greater than supply. It is facilitated by the fact" that everyone but the consumer is organized.

was soon in our office, happy to find her

FLIGHT FROM THE COUNTRY.

Preliminary reports on the popu- nation census are beginning to trace the pattern of intrastate migration in Texas during [thepast] [uncertain] decade. They reveal a large-scale flight from the country to the cities" and towns.

It had long been Known, of course, that this was taking place. But the movement apparently has been more pronounced than most Texans had expected re

For example, 10 of the 2 counties in the [Seventh] [uncertain] Congressional District lost population. Ten of the 11 counties in the First Congressional Dis[trict] [uncertain] also had fewer people in 1950 than they had in 1940. Both are in Hast Texas. But the trend is not confined to that section. [Ellis] [uncertain] county, one of the old-settled [blackland:] [uncertain] counties in North-Central Texas, was among those reporting losses.
So were Archer and Baylor, newer counties in the northwestern part of the state.

It is significant, however, that most of the larger towns showed an appreciable gain. Nacogdoches gained while the county lost. Marshall gained almost 4000. while Harrison county lost [closéto] [uncertain] 5000. Waxahachie, the county seat of Ellis, showed a normal gain. Many other examples could be cited f The migration from rural areas, then, has not all been to the larger cities. It seems probable that the big towns and small cities have [gain»] [uncertain] ed principally at the expense of the surrounding countryside. Big cities, on the other hand, have drawn heavily from other states as well as the Texas" area changing economy, a [eulearal as] [uncertain] well
