High School Commencement.

Beautifully engraved invitations have been mailed by the Senior class of the Crockett High School, announcing the commencement exercises to be held in the High School auditorium Tuesday evening, May 30, at 8 o'clock. High school commencement exercises are never an event of small significance, and this year's exercises will be of no less significance than those gone before. It is an event to look forward to and, also, an event to look backward to—therefore of double significance.

Making Way for Progress.

J. H. Crow has lost his buggy house at the rear of the express office. He is no longer afraid it will fall on him, as it has been torn down and moved away. When asked about it, Mr. Crow said he once asked a faithful old colored man if he wasn't afraid his church would fall down on him, and the faithful old darkey replied that it had been there longer than he had, and it hadn't fallen yet. The old darkey thus encouraged a freedom from fear feeling.
