GETS LESS THAN HIS SHARE OF CONSUMER DOLLAR

Louis Bromfield in Houston Chronicle.

There is a lot of nonsense going about concerning the vast prosperity of the farmer and all the advantages he has.
Some of it is deliberate false propaganda.
Some of it is purely Political and much of it arises from complete ignorance. Actually the farmer is getting less than his share of the consumers dollar. By far the bigger portion of the prices you pay for food of all kinds goes out in pro- fits to the processor. and the distribut- or and in high wages to the organized v labor which processes or delivers your food. It is about time that the con- host understood these things [and}] [uncertain] put the pressure

[(CREEPING)] [uncertain] TAXATION A PROGRESSIVE DISEASE

By Hon, Ralph W. Gwinn, Congressman from New York.

Creeping taxation from Washington has deprived millions of Americans of their rent money. It has put food prices beyond reach. It has impover- shed the towns and cities until they cant scrape up enough

Crockett Courier — April 27, 1950 money to educate their children. Those of us past 65 years of age find our savings all:

confiscated and spent by the government. Now we learn the taxpayers so impoverished that they [uncertain] unable to pay [uncertain] taxes to make good the losses of our savings for old-age pensions, And we can't live on the printed money we are getting, worth only 60 cents on the dollars we paid in.

At last we see what ails us, [uncertain] the withholding taxes, excise taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes, [uncertain] [uncertain] taxes, stamp taxes, transportation taxes—taxes. [uncertain] of all kinds.

For years most taxes were hidden from us. We were fooled into thinking the rich man or corporation paid them. But now we feel them [uncertain] down to the bone. Now we see them plainly in every item we buy. When we get sick, nothing is left to pay the hospital bills.

So the people complain and petition the congress to reduce the burdens of taxation and free them from the government itself. For example, millions of tenants are on the government's back complaining about the 20-percent withholding tax. That tax, they say, would just about pay their rents. But instead of repealing the tax and reducing its rate, [uncertain] gov: [uncertain] shifts" the tenants onto the [uncertain] of little-property owners and forces them to reduce the tenants' rent by 40 percent. That 40-percent tax is the destruction of private property on the road to socialization.

Thus individuals and old properties are being liquidated, used up or taken over by the government as mortgagor in foreclosure. The government now owns one-fourth of all lands in the [uncertain]—I t-holds—a-fourth-of—all mortgages [uncertain] outstanding on the farms of the country. It has loaned 70 percent of all the money used in building houses since the war. All this is being done by taxation. In the next depression, as our mortgagor, it can take us over or crack the whip and make us all vote for mercy.

About half of all American families, or one adult person out of six, are now on their knees depending [uncertain] Washington for help to balance their family [uncertain] whole or in part. That means that half our families are no longer a free people with the means to provide for themselves housing, food, clothing, education and health. It also means that only half our families are still left partly free [uncertain] still able to produce enough surplus to support the other half in whole or in part by paying the government taxes—now collected for their support. But overworked and oppressed [uncertain] half are being further reduced in numbers every day. There
