EDUCATION FOR CITIZENSHIP.

"The power to choose the ruler I do, To grow and have the larger voice, To know and feel that I am free, To stand erect, not bow the knee, To be no chisel of the State, To be the master of my fate, To dare, to risk to lose, to win, To make my own career begin, To serve the world in my own way, With hope and zeal to climb, to rise, To gain in wisdom day by day."

—A. B. Riddler Drama by Herbert Casson.

In four of the most significant meetings ever held in east Texas, during the past six weeks 4,000 high school seniors came together at four east Texas colleges for conferences on vocational guidance and education for citizenship, under the leadership of the East Texas chamber.

Results have been so satisfactory that plans are being considered for making the program an annual affair. School men and business men who attended the meetings are enthusiastic.

Quite near Texas may take courage and hope from the response of these fine young people. There is nothing wrong with our east Texas youth that proper guidance and construction won't cure. They were eager to hear talks by successful men on various occupations and also on American system of government and economy.

This is one of the few counties left where a boy or girl can choose an occupation without interference or direction by the government. When Great Britain embarked upon a double program of "planned economy" in 1940, Sir Stafford Cripps said: "Our objective is to carry through a planned economy without the direction of labor." The British plan soon found that this was impossible. Two years later the British government began to tell men where to work, Russia's slave labor battalions show the horror of the final stages of "planned economy."

One of our speakers at the conference at the college at Huntsville told the students that there was a group nearby that had absolute security but no freedom. They are the inmates of the state penitentiary in the same town.

General Eisenhower in a recent Texas speech told of an essay contest conducted by a northern newspaper among high school students on the subject: "What do you want most from your government?" Twenty-one of the contestants mentioned security and not one mentioned opportunity. East Texas boys and girls are aware of this. But it is the duty of business men to see that they understand that government security means loss of liberty. East Texas will not willingly accept that.

We chamber of commerce people are for the right of making speeches to each other about subjects on which we already agree. This now movement among east Texas high school students is getting down to fundamentals in this problem of moulding right ideas about our government and its critical future—Robert M. Hutton.

THIS IS UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

In the brief which Attorney General Price Daniel and his first assistant, Joe Gresham, filed in the United States Supreme court in the suit of the negro, Herman Marion Sweatt, to enter the law school in Texas, it is contended properly that the whole question of segregation is settled. It is true that if the court should follow the arguments advanced in behalf of Sweatt it would "overrule all of its historic decisions under which the states segregated the two races in public institutions, schools for the deaf and blind, homes for the aged and other institutions."

But what the dispatch from Austin about this brief fails to bring out is that this issue has been introduced into the suit by the Federal government itself, which has gone out of its way to make itself a party to the suit on the side of the negro plaintiff. Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman has intervened in the Sweatt case, as he has in other pending segregation cases, undoubtedly under instructions from President Truman, and has asked that the long-established rule of law, on which all previous decisions of the court have been based, that segregation is constitutional, if accommodations are equal, be "reconsidered and overruled." This is the "separate but equal" doctrine, and the Federal government is contending that "the notion that separate but equal facilities satisfy constitutional and statutory prohibitions against discrimination is obsolete." Perlman declares that "the phrase 'equal rights' means the same rights."

If the court adopts this reasoning, it will mean that all segregation is outlawed, which would include not only the public schools throughout the south. It is just possible that the court may decide the Sweatt case and other pending cases without reference to the "separate but equal" doctrine. In other words, it may dodge the question at this time. But there can be no question as to the attitude of the Truman administration. The intervention of the government in these segregation cases reveals its intention to use all its powers to abolish all segregation altogether.

It is decidedly pertinent to current political campaigns in southern states that this should be fully recognized. And we are thinking especially of the campaign for members of the State Democratic committee now in progress in Alabama. No matter what representations are being made by administration apologists (like Senator Lister Hill, for example), the undeniable fact is that the Truman administration, Mr. Truman himself, and the Democratic National committee are all fully determined to "reconstruct" race relations in the south. No southern Democratic party organization should be allied with them in any way, southern Weekly.

SOUTHERN GREATEST CHAMPION.

John C. Calhoun died on March 31, 1850, exactly one hundred years ago today. The centennial of his death will not be widely observed, but the publication of two adequate, though very different, biographies of the south's greatest champion has provided occasion for public recognition of his genius. Six years ago the first volume of Charles M. Wittke's three-volume life of Calhoun was published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company and the second volume appeared last year. The third volume will not be completed until late next year, but it should be the last of the series. The first volume of the series was published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company and the second volume appeared last year. The third volume will not be completed until late next year, but it should be the last of the series.

A reappraisal of Calhoun, long an ardent, in process as a result of these two splendid works. The publisher's "blurb" on the jacket of Miss Calhoun's book says that "John Caldwell Calhoun was perhaps the most profound political thinker of nineteenth-century America."

General Eisenhower in a recent Texas speech told of an essay contest conducted by a northern newspaper among high school students on the subject: "What do you want most from your government?"

BULLDOGS SLUG OUT

10-1 VICTORY OVER SANDIES THURSDAY

The Crockett High Bulldogs slugged out a 10 to 1 victory over the Grape land High Sandies Thursday afternoon at City Park in a non-conference baseball tilt. Harold Carpenter, W. T. Hawkins and Johnny Johnson collaborated in pitching two-hit ball. Carpenter, the lefty, was winner as he bailed four innings and yielded a single. Hawkins tossed two rounds and gave up a home run to Alford Brown in the sixth. Johnson felled eight. Hawkins fanned three, Carpenter struck out eight, Johnson fanned three. The Bulldogs opened with a three-run first inning and added single scores in the second, fifth and sixth innings, counting nine in the third and fourth frames and scoring in every inning they batted. Chapman and Douman shared the mound for the visitors. Hallmark and Howard Smith divided receiving duties.

The "civil rights" issue here built down to an effort on the part of the national union to control who shall go to the United States senate in behalf of Florida.

The C. I. O. has turned to the negro to develop a new union, but the balance of power. There are about 300,000 negroes of voting age according to the 1946 census and, if all were registered, it would mean a number equal to more than half the total vote in the hotly contested primary for governor two years ago. In that campaign 65,180 negroes registered, or about 24 per cent. This leaves 76 per cent as a potential for the present drive.

With $1 assessments collected from workers in Northern states—called "voluntary"—but actually obtained through intimidating processes—big campaign chests are accumulated by the C. I. O. for use in a state like Texas. The Tampa Tribune, which has been critical of the C. I. O. activities in detail, in an article in the Tribune, the Tribune quotes a C. I. O. leader as saying "the national organization figures it is more important to keep Senator Pepper in the senate than to get rid of Senator Taft."

The Tribune adds: "Reports from some large negro centers say registrants are being offered $2 for their vote, $1 when they register and turn over the card to registration cards, with the promise of another $1 when they go to the polls and cast their cards to vote. Other reports tell of a promised loaf-bread in the senate than to get rid of Senator Taft."

Wendell Vincent, regional director of the U. S. Food and Drug administration, said the meat was seized as horse meat by the bureau's Washington laboratories.

Sam Alberger of the A. & M. Wholesale Meat Co., was fined $150 on a charge of selling unspiced and unseasoned meat.

He testified at a Municipal Court hearing that he bought the meat from an Omaha packer and believed it was beef. He said he paid 36 cents a pound for it.

The Omaha packer was not named. Vincent said he was seeking information which would lead to the filing of charges against the packer for transporting adulterated and misbranded meat in interstate commerce. The confiscated meat was taken from restaurants and meat dealers in the metropolitan area, Vincent said.

C.I.O. IS DRIVING

TO BUILD FLORIDA NEGRO VOTE BLOC

The winner in the Democratic primary is assured of victory in the upcoming election. In fact, many Republicans are registering and intend to vote for Representative Sanders in the Democratic primary because they don't like the fact that the C. I. THIS IS UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

In the brief which Attorney General Price Daniel and his first assistant, Joe Greenhill, have filed in the United States Supreme court in the suit of the negro, Herman Marion Sweatt, to enter the University of Texan, it ix contended properly that the whole question of segregation is involved. It is true that if the court should follow the arguments advanced in behalf of Sweatt it would overrule all of its historic decisions under which the states separate persons of the two races in public sanitariums, schools for the deaf and blind, homes for the aged and other institutions."

But what the dispatch from Austin about this brief fails to bring out is that this issue has been introduced into the suit by the Federal government itself, which has gone out of its way to make itself a party to the suit on the side of the negro plaintiff.

Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman has intervened in the Sweatt case, as he has in other pending segregation cases, undoubtedly under instructions from President Truman, and has asked that the long-established rule of law, on which all previous decisions of the court have been based, that segregation is constitutional if accommodations are equal, be reexamined and overruled." This is the separate but equal" doctrine, and the Federal government is contending that the notion that separate but equal facili- ties satisfy constitutional and statutory prohibitions against discrimination is obsolete." Perlman declares that the phrase equal rights" means the same rights." a

If the court adopts this reasoning, it will mean [thatnllsegregation] [uncertain] is [otitlawed,] [uncertain] which would include not only the.institutions cited, but also the public schools throughout the south.

It is just possible that the court may decide the-Sweatt case and other pending cases without reference to the separate but equal" doctrine. In other words, it may dodge the question at this time. But there can be no question as to the attitude of the Truman administration, The intervention of the government in these segre- [gation] [uncertain] cases reveals its intention to use all its [powors] [uncertain] td abolish all segregation altogether, [Tt] [uncertain] is decidedly pertinent to current political campaigns in southern states that this should be fully recognized. And we are thinking especially of the campaign for members of the State Democratic committee now in progress in Alabama. No matter what representations are being made by administration apologists [(like] [uncertain] Senator [Lisster Hill}] [uncertain] for example), the undeniable fact is that the Truman administration, Mr. Truman himself, and the Democratic National committee are all fully determined to....reconstruct" race relations in the south. No southern Democratic party organization should be allied with them in any [way.—Southern] [uncertain] Weekly.
