CITY COUNCIL BACKS TRAINING SCHOOL SITE HERE

The city council of Crockett held a called meeting Tuesday morning, Mayor R. M. Sims presiding. The council passed a resolution that the city make available land suitable to the state of Texas for the purpose of erecting a new colored girls' training school. Several sites have been under consideration for this purpose.

Mr. Matthews, representative of the state board, was to be in Crockett Tuesday to inspect proposed sites for the reform school, which is to be moved from its present location at Brady to an east Texas town.

COMMISSIONERS BACK TRI-COUNTY HEALTH UNIT HERE

The commissioners' court of Houston county held their regular session Monday and, among other things, passed an order that the county contribute half the expense of quarters for the Houston county section of the tri-county health unit for Houston, Trinity and Polk counties. A commitment on a downtown building, subject to approval of the state health department, has been obtained. The city is to pay half the costs of furnishing the building.

Headquarters of the tri-county unit will be in Groveton. However, some of the personnel of the units probably will live in Crockett. The unit is expected to begin operation shortly after April 1.
