TIGHTER BILL
FORETOLD ON COTTON LAND

J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, Monday warned that the United States Senate will probably tighten up a livestock home bill on cotton acreage allotments.

But Hammond added that he hoped the "inefficient" of the present law could be easily well worked out later in the year.

Hammond spoke before farmers of twenty-five north Texas counties Monday at a district federation meeting at the Hotel Jefferson. He has just returned from Washington, where he has been carrying the farmers' fight against present allotment laws.

The house bill, Hammond told the farmers, would guarantee them at least 70 per cent of their average cotton plantings including war crops for 1947 and 1948. Or it would guarantee them 60 per cent of their highest plantings, including war crops, for any of the three years.

The farmer could choose whichever of these alternatives gives him the best break, Hammond said, although both choices are subject to a 40 per cent limitation. No farmer can plant more than 40 per cent of his land in cotton.

Hammond predicted that the Senate might knock out the 60 per cent provision, and possibly cut down the first alternative from 75 per cent to 60 per cent.

"If this happened," he said, "it would be a step for the good but wouldn't by any means solve the problems in front of some of our hardship cases. I think though, that as the year goes on, the Senate's incoherent committee will attempt to resolve these inequities."

Melvin Carter, organizational director of the Texas Farm Bureau, said the national convention would be held in Dallas next December 14. From $200 to $300 delegates are expected—Dallas News.

CROCKETT DOWNS
GRAPELAND 39-26
IN SEASON FINALE

The Crockett High Bulldogs brought the conference basketball race to a close Tuesday night with a 39 to 26 victory over the Grapeland High Bulldogs in the season finale.

The Bulldogs battled furiously and it was late in the game before the Bulldogs' lead looked safe.

Counting only two points the first half, W. T. Hoskins found the range in the second half and soon the high schoolers were leading by nine points.

Crockett—Hoskins, 17, and Bailey, 9, forwards; Latham, 8, center; Gayle, 3, and Morrow, guards; J. Johnson, 2, R. Rhone and Parker, substitutes.

Grapeland—Hoskins, 2, and Hallmark, 7, forwards; Hoskins, 3, center; Herman Smith, 1, and Brimberry, 4, guards; Howard Smith, Brown, 2, and C. Smith, 2, substitutes.

FOREST FARMING AND TIMBER TIPS

February 6, 1950.
On a milder, soil conservation service "Farm Forester," George Bagwell, also with the S. C. S. and a couple of Jack Bagwell's hands, to see what the Texas region decided to try out.

Jack Bagwell's new Gladney-Murphy mechanical planter, which he had been using for some time in the area, and I decided to try it out.

We could learn about mechanical planting in general and the Gladney-Murphy planter in particular.

The first thing we discovered was that it was too wet to plant that day on the area we chose with that particular machine. That was due to the fact that the bottom suddenly fell out of the sky, was the last thing we learned that morning, except that we discovered why it is not considered wise to stand behind a car whose forward motion has stopped but whose wheels are still spinning in the mud.

That as it may be, I'm certainly glad to see a far sighted landowner get a mechanical planter. Planting machines have, in the past, been owned and operated strictly by the largest landowners simply because the small man did not feel that he could afford to buy one, and there were none around that he could rent.

However, if Mr. Bagwell's purchase indicates a trend, it might be that a lot of machine planting will be done in east Texas in the next few years. Email tells me that Mr. Bagwell plans to do custom planting with the machine when he completes his own planting program. If that's true, some of you folks who plan to do some planting next year might get in touch with him and see if you can "make a trade."

James B. Webster, Texas Forest Service, Groesbeck, Texas.

Evon Richmond, Womack, 67, died in Groesbeck January 31. Services were held February 4 at 2 p. m. at the Church of Christ in Groesbeck. Interment was in the Glenwood cemetery of Groesbeck.

Mr. Womack was a resident of Groesbeck for the past twenty-eight years and was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors: Wife, Mrs. Myrtle Womack; Groesbeck; three sons, W. O. and E. H. Jr. of Groesbeck, S. L. of Houston; two daughters, Mrs. G. P. Purdy, Camden, and Mrs. R. W. DeFries, Lufkin; two brothers, F. O. Womack, Oklahoma, and B. E. Womack, Centralia; two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Hamilton, Groesbeck, and Mrs. Pearl McClain, Groesbeck; seven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Arrangements were by the Callaway Funeral Home.

the extra performance of Humble Esso Extra gasoline

"Gives best performance"

"Wouldn't use any other"

"A mighty good gasoline"

"No knock in my new car"

"Recommend it for new cars"

"Best I ever used"

You'll be just as enthusiastic about Esso Extra gasoline

You'll agree that it's a gasoline made-to-order for today's automobiles. You'll agree that extra anti-knock performance and extra power, plus the patented solvent oil that keeps your motor extra clean... all add up to something extra for your money.

Try Esso Extra in your car—fill up at the Humble sign in your neighborhood.

The time of the drive has been extended to February 18, which will run it through next week. But it is never a good sign to put off doing a good deed. Too many other things get in the way.

Those who wish to help in this commendable effort to make their contributions as early as possible. Avoid the rush of next week. Too many people like to put off doing good until the last minute. Make your contribution now and avoid the rush later. Also save your feelings of tardiness if you wait until after the drive is over. And remember that the drive really needs your help.

ACREAGE CONSIDERED
[eee] [uncertain] February: 4,
[1860.] [uncertain]

Editor Courier:

Tuesday, January 31, the house passed a resolution designed" to cor-rest inequities in the 1950 cotton acreage allotments. The senate commit- tee on, agriculture has held one day [of_hearings-on-the-house] [uncertain] bill-and-ex[pects] [uncertain] to continue those hearings [dure] [uncertain] ing the week beginning February. 6. oo [The] [uncertain] latest information available- is the senate committee, recognizing che need for speedy action, hopes t port its bill out shortly. If that is

[4s] [uncertain] one, the legislation can finally bo

[sed] [uncertain] in time to permit some [re~] [uncertain]

[ision] [uncertain] in acreage allotments before planting time in east Texas.

Consideration" of the bill in the house consumed the better part of [tHree] [uncertain] days and more than 100 pages of the Congressional Record were re- quired to print the proceedings, The committees report on the resolution [eontains~47-] [uncertain] pages of- printed matter.

[It:] [uncertain] is-apparent, therefore, that a dee tailed, analysis of the bill and [thé] [uncertain] de-.

Thb bill as passed in the house will not do everything that is needed to correct existing inequities but, as

[T_] [uncertain] said" during the debate, I" would rather have [a_little] [uncertain] bit-of something than a-whole" lot of nothing."

On Tuesday, February 7; the house committee handling cotton legislation will begin hearings on proposed amendments to existing law, designed to prevent some of the [maladjustments] [uncertain] in 1961 and subsequent years. The week of February 20 is tentatively set as the time for hearing witnesses representing [growers—and] [uncertain] grower organizations, Any one wishing to appear before the committee may notify me what group he repre- [sents] [uncertain] and [Iwill] [uncertain] be glad to arrange-a satisfactory time for his appearance.

None of us is satisfied with the present law and few believe the proposed legislation is the entire answer to the situation. The existing inequities are very similar to those that arose following enactment of the 1988 law which had to be amended several times, ee
