PINE [SEEDLINGS:] [uncertain]

[As] [uncertain] many of you probably" know from talking with the various [mem-]) bers] [uncertain] of your county agricultural committee, each year.the Texas [Forestry}] [uncertain] Association [purchases,~and] [uncertain] makes available to youth groups, pine seedlings. The seedlings are given [to'] [uncertain] these groups free of charge. [This] [uncertain] year the association agreed" to. [pur-] [uncertain] chase 833,000 [seedlitigs,] [uncertain] or enough to plant almost thousand acres,

However, according to the latest information I have, to [qate_only about}] [uncertain] half these seedlings have been [requested.] [uncertain] This means that lots of [free} seédlings (in) [uncertain] this case slash pine) are going begging. Application for these seedlings should be made [to}] [uncertain] L, L. Bishop,

[Some_] [uncertain] friend has sent the [Courier] [uncertain] editor a 1950 Blue Grass Review [edi- tion] [uncertain] of the Sunday Herald-Leader, published at Lexington, Ky. The magazine section contains 120 pages, with beautifully engraved photographs, printed in the colors of the rainbow. This editor claims Lexington to be the center of blue grass, expert farming, tobacco growing and manufacturing, finest race horses and most beautiful women in all Kentucky. Yes sur correct, but why should so many Kentucky colonels want to come to Texas when they hear tall Texans bragging about their towering pines, their spreading oaks, their shady [pecan—trees_and-their] [uncertain] prairie [flowers—} Laur.] [uncertain] lovely queens in-a-spreading [state-}-] [uncertain] But Kentucky has its Lexington and its racehorses and its pretty [women;}] [uncertain] things to arouse the pride of [any] [uncertain] state, [suh.] [uncertain] The Lexington Sunday Herald-Leader has sixteen comic pages, which is something to Jaugh at beetween times.
