BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY.

In 1900, the social center of American life was the church. The American people were religious, deeply attached to their various sects, reading the Bible not only in church but even at home. Prayer at table or in the parlor was not unusual. Many American Christians were "fundamentalists"; that is, they accepted literally every word in the Old and New Testaments as revealed truth. A man who was a member of a church among the number of churchgoers among the Protestants were Methodists.

A great revival had occurred in the '50s under the leadership of Dwight L. Moody with whom was associated Dr. S. S. McKim. Moody was an evangelist, a hymn-writer, a hymn-singer. It is impossible in 1950, even to estimate the force that these men released in their generation. Their style of religious preaching was followed by many others who traveled over the country and some of them to other countries. The most interesting in the early years of the century was Billy Sunday with his song leader, Homer Reddick, whose trombone is a living memory to anyone who ever heard it. Houston Chronicle.

WHAT WILL CONGRESS DO?

The new session of congress may do much to decide whether we are to continue down the road that ends in stagnation and dictatorial government, or whether we are to reaffirm the principles and the ideals that made us a great free and prosperous people.

A determined effort is being made to fasten the welfare state idea upon the country. Congress will be asked to appropriate billions for cradle-to-grave security measures—all of which, of course, would be compulsory. The only logical reasoning behind proposals of this character is that the American people are no longer capable of taking care of themselves, that independence, thrift, self-reliance and pride are obsolete virtues, and that we must follow the sorry example of near-bankrupt England and dictator-ridden Russia.

An equally determined effort will be made to extend government ownership and domination of industry and enterprise. This naturally goes hand in hand with the welfare state—the cloth is cut from the same bolt.

"Given an opportunity, cheerfulness will ride with you every mile of life's journey."

REVISION COTTON CONTROL ACT TO BE STUDIED

Washington, December 30.—Senator Russell, Democrat, Georgia, said Friday one of the first tasks for the new session of congress will be revision of the cotton control act, to provide more leeway in planting allotments.

The past session of congress, with apparent support from cotton growers, passed an acreage and marketing control act that encouraged reduction of planting of more than 27,000,000 acres this year to about 21,000,000 acres for 1950.

A cotton surplus has been piling up again under the government loan and price-support program.

The problem of subsidized transportation has become critical. You may never ride on a plane—but, in one way or another, you pay part of the tickets bought by those who do. You may never ship anything by highway carrier—yet, again, you help subsidize those who use this form of transportation. The breakdown of highways funded by the Federal modern truck-and-trailer jobs, and the cost of building new roads capable of standing great loads moved at high speeds, is a burden that taxpayers in almost all the states.

Center-Jackson, Inc. is credited with having completed the Fred Bridges No. 5 as a 99-barrel a day producer. The well was tested last week through a 10-4/8 inch choke. Gravity was 46.0 degrees and gas and oil ratio was 8.267 to 1. Production is from 1,000-120 bbl. —Crockett.

GMC to Offer More Models, More Power, More Features for '50

GMC dealers across the country will soon be displaying new 1950 models. While few of them have the room to feature exhibits as extensive or elaborate as this special factory showing, it takes only one GMC to demonstrate the rugged good looks, the sturdy truck-built engine and chassis that are characteristic of every one of the wide variety of light, medium and heavy duty models in the GMC 1950 truck line. Additional models this year will include new series in the 1½ and 2½-ton ranges, new middle-weight six-wheelers and new lighter Diesels. In addition, GMC will feature increased horsepower in its light and medium duty engines, as well as many cab, chassis and engine advancements.

HUNTERS WARNED TO LOOK OUT FOR RABBIT FOXES

Lufkin, December 30.—Dr. S. T. Newbert, veterinarian, has issued a warning to hunters and sportsmen in Angelina county to be alert for rabbit foxes. He said several have been seen around Lufkin, Central Consolidated and as far west as Trinity.

In the past two weeks, I have seen six fox heads to Austin to be examined," Doctor Newbert said, "and each one tested positive."

Rabbits which carry a normally shy animal into a vicious fighter, the veterinarian said. A man and three dogs were attacked by a diseased fox recently. Both the man and dogs are under treatment now, Doctor Newbert said.

He added that a mad fox also bit a cattle and a horse.

"Contrary to popular belief winter and early spring are the worst times for hydrophobia."

TEXAS VETERANS IN THE MILLIONS

Dallas, January 14.—Texas veterans will be asked to "roll away" part of their national service life insurance dividends in U. S. Savings Bonds, Nathan Adams of Dallas, state Savings Bonds chairman, announced today.

Mr. Adams said that principal veterans organizations of the state will participate in the campaign, beginning Monday (January 16), to urge ex-service men and women to use their dividend money as nest-eggs for the future. This is the date on which the Veterans' Administration has announced it will begin mailing dividend checks. A total of $2.2 billion will be distributed in the next six months, with about $150,000,000 going to the 700,000 veterans in Texas.

The past session of congress, with apparent support from cotton growers, passed an acreage and marketing control act that encouraged reduction of planting of more than 27,000,000 acres this year to about 21,000,000 acres for 1950.
