Overpass [siractur] [uncertain]

Two of the most painful complications of the common cold are an enr-' [acbe] [uncertain] and sinus trouble. And they are frequent complications of a cold. Earaches [dont] [uncertain] always [foliow] [uncertain] a cold, of course, and may start up without any cold" signs, just the sudden aching of the ear. Most people have at one time or other experienced a sudden [carache] [uncertain] that Just hurts awfully bad and then by the time Fou get to the doctor there is no ache left) wt all that type of earache" Is offer caused by a tiny blister, bled, which [forma] [uncertain] in [tne] [uncertain] ear, flares up for a brief period and then subsides without any aftereffects. More serious and more prolonged et [4s] [uncertain] the inflammation of the middle ear which is called title media, which may follow cold. This earache starts up a little slower, usually with a feeling of fullness in the ear which you can relieve by swallowing or yawning.

If you [bave] [uncertain] a cold at the time you probably hear bubbling and cracking noises In your ear when you blow your nose. [Was] [uncertain] Bat then the [inflamshstion] [uncertain] usually [c=] [uncertain] flares up with yawning no Jonger re [lieving] [uncertain] the [preasure] [uncertain] and you may get [Mh] [uncertain] sg severe headache along with ringing, roaring or hissing in your ear or era. When the middle ear becomes completely filled with liquid, your hearing is not good and your own voice sounds unusually loud to you ee [Lat Lp oF] [uncertain] indication that you hare a complication from your cold or else a well-developed [carache.] [uncertain] It may last a few days or more [thas] [uncertain] a [woek] [uncertain] and you need to [atay] [uncertain] fn the house, cat a [Jight dlet] [uncertain] and drink plenty of water. If you have a fever, you should be in bed.
