THERE MUST BE A CHANGE.

Neither Truman nor Vinson will be acceptable to Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas as the Democratic nominee for president. Governor Shivers made this clear, following his announcement at the mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association that he will ask for another two-year term as governor and not run for the United States senate against Tom Connally.

He told his fellow publishers that he will not pledge blind support of the nominee of the Democratic National convention. He said his personal choice for president is Senator Dick Russell of Georgia.

There must be a change, he said,

"in the national trend, not alone for the welfare of Texas and its citizens, but for the benefit of the nation and the world." And he added: "I want to fight to the bitter end to prevent this nation from being run by a few men in the White House."

Dawson Duncan of the Austin

Bureau of the Dallas Morning

News reports that the assembled publishers of Texas newspapers, about 200 of them, cheered this declaration.

Governor Shivers said that in his opinion Mr. Truman might step aside as a candidate and seek to hand-pick the nominee. "I think there is a very strong chance of this," he said. "I would personally be surprised if he did not."

NO MINCED WORDS IN HIS

PLATFORM.

Whether you like Price Daniel or not, whether you intend to vote for him or for Tom Connally, the three-time attorney general of Texas presented Monday night a forthright front to what will be his latest political test in announcing Monday night that he would oppose the veteran incumbent for the United States senate. Mr. Daniel did not equivocate, did not waffle. He said what he is for, what he is against.

And practically every point he addressed is one that is highly controversial within the Democratic party as well as within the nation itself. Mr. Daniel made it plain that you can vote for him for what he intends to do, that you can vote against him for what he intends to do. He left no room for doubt as to where he stands.

Rightly, so far as the national government is concerned, Mr. Daniel's restoration of integrity the main issue. He wants the Democratic party to do the reforming. He says that

MORALITY IN OUR NATIONAL

LIFE.

The head of one of the country's leading enterprises recently talked on corruption in high places. He said:

"If the corruption which has been exposed is not vigorously attacked on the front, the public will be justifically in becoming cynical, and all our cherished American traditions will be jeopardized. Even business cannot long maintain its high standards of conduct. Only if all the forces for righteousness join together in a supreme effort will we be able to win the battle for restoration of high morality in our national life."

It is not true, as some people seem to believe, that graft, petty corruption, and various kinds of dishonesty must inevitably be a part of all human undertakings. As the same executive pointed out, "high moral standards do exist and must exist to make possible the efficient production and distribution of $325,000,000,000 worth of goods and services in this country every year." Fraud and commercial bribery are almost nonexistent here, and millions of transactions, some involving large sums, are completed every year without written contracts or formal guarantees. On the stock exchanges, billions of dollars worth of property are bought and sold by a word or a sign, and the agreements are invariably honored. This executive said that his own company has credit sales totaling about $500,000, 000 a year to over 1,000,000 different individuals and concerns—yet the bad-debt losses over the past five years have averaged only one-fiftieth of one per cent.

Of all the forms of corruption, that in government is the worst. And there are many kinds of corruption, which are so subtle as to be beyond the reach of the law. The only defense is the "moral integrity and moral standards of the men who are in and appoint to office."

MOTOR SAFETY RULES

RELAXED.

To say that thousands of Texas motor vehicle owners heaved a sigh of relief Wednesday upon announcement of the relaxation of inspection regulations is to state the case mildly.

Though aimed at a most desirable goal, the new law has been the cause of much confusion and actual resentment on the part of motorists. Extension of the time in which inspections might be made saved the situation from a breakdown. There remained much criticism that the regulations were entirely too strict and too broad; that motorists would be put to considerable expense in having repairs made which had little or nothing to do with actual safety.

Now the department of public safety, acting on the suggestion made by business in Texas to invest in this state three-fourths of all reserves held for payment of policies written in

Texas.

The Texas legislature in 1941 passed a bill which aimed greatly to increase the number of policies in effect.

Under its terms, a driver who has an accident cannot continue to operate a vehicle without showing liability coverage. The law is a compromise between individual option as to liability and the policy of some Eastern states, notably Massachusetts, which require liability coverage before a license is issued—Curtis Bishop in Houston Chronicle.

HEEL INSURANCE.

For the diffusion of the government and attorney general of Texas, who seem to be poorly informed, I want to comment on the insurance and auto inspection laws they approved.

Any piece of mechanical equipment in action or service carries certain hazards. Laws that force operators of such equipment to buy protection from these hazards are racketeering, disastrous, and symbolic of Truman politics.

Adjustments of auto parts are temporary. There is no foolproof remedy. A punctured tire is more likely to cause an accident than a car with a tire out of alignment, and the worst accidents would compel the owner to correct a serious condition.

It would be as intelligent to have washing machines, electric irons, tuber heels, spectacles, etc., inspected or force people to buy insurance for their use.

The Supreme Court has held that all laws are made to be enforced by "rule of reason."

Apply this kindergarten reasoning to a homecoming engineer. If the engineer's brake valve failed to function and caused a wreck, people should sue the engineer and if he did not sue, the engineer should be fined.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS.

In this year when Texans are ratifying insurance, the policy written on February 1, 1949, should be of more than casual interest.

For it was the first insurance policy covering an automobile. Modern day car owners would be happy to settle for the same rate—a liability of $5000 to $10,000 was secured at an annual premium of only $11.25.

A company in Hartford, Connecticut, issued the policy.

The automobile was brought to Texas by the son of Hattie Green, the accident rich woman of the East. All insurance relative to automobiles in Texas was under the jurisdiction of the Board of Insurance Commissioners.

The Robertson Insurance Law of 1909 required insurance companies doing

Texas.
