COURIER EDITOR
NOW JEALOUS
OF ITS FRIEND

Our friend, Mr. E. Z. Millard, has received a letter of congratulations from a citizen and subscriber at Palestine. The appreciated congratulations follow:

Mr. E. Z. Millard,
c/o Crockett Courier.
Dear Mr. Millard:

Although I am not acquainted with you, I am writing to congratulate you on your letter in this week's Crockett Courier. Every time I read it, I see more wisdom in it. I know there are lots of people thinking like us, and it is a pity that they don't go to the trouble of speaking out.

Yours very truly,
Rosa Fowler.

P. S. And I liked the Courier's editorial on Tom Connolly, on page 1. It was high time to "punch him up." He has been asleep on the band wagon too long.

Yours, R. F.

Friend Millard desires the Courier to thank Captain Fowler for his compliments and congratulatory message and to wish him life's share of happiness.

TRACK, BASEBALL
SOON FOR SCHOOL

Coach Dusty Korman and Tuesday morning that imminent weather prevented the start of track and field training at Crockett High School Monday, but that he would inaugurate the workouts as soon as weather permitted.

Perhaps the outstanding track returning is Buddy Robinson, who won the mile run in district and regional meets last season.

Baseball practice is scheduled to immediately follow spring football. Pitching prospects include Joe Arndt, Bob Worley and Jake Lynn. Expected catchers include Chester Sless, Art, Jake Corbett and James Adams.

Among infielders are Merle Lack, Art, Corbett, Buddy Robinson, Don McCracken, Budde Morrow, Philip McLean and others. Adams, Robinson and Morrow have had experience in the outfield. Newcomers may make the club players, but for places on the lineup.

[TWO] [uncertain] GUNS [TOO MUCH] [uncertain] FOR ONE MAN SO ONE WAS TAKEN

Friend Milldew, here Saturday and taking a squint at Tom Sherrods window [dispiay] [uncertain] of pistols of [yartous] [uncertain] kinds, allowed that Tom must be getting ready for war. He reckoned that Tom could not have got all of [thoe] [uncertain]

Crockett Courier — February 28, 1952

Pistola st one time of in one place.

He wondered if Tum had not taken those pistols one at a time, aa [cach] [uncertain] one was of different make, different caliber and different size. His idea seemed to be that whenever Tom ran across two-gun man, he just told him that two guns was too [moch] [uncertain] for one man and to hand over one to him.

He allowed that Tom did not [aak] [uncertain] the man to surrender one of his pistols, but told him what to do. Thus he got another war armament without the asking, but by telling the two- [Heunner] [uncertain] to hand over. The Coufier editor, being of an interruptive turn.

[eugested] [uncertain] to Friend Milidew that his idea could not be [curtect,] [uncertain] as Tom Sherrod had about four hundred [gunz] [uncertain] in all that there were 350 stored on the Inside, while there was only about fifty displayed-in-the show window that there were not four hundred two-gun totor in these digging." Our friend asked us not to fool ourself that in another section, before he left it, m man came riding [wliid] [uncertain] lion up to the bar with [a»] [uncertain] barbed wire bridle on and a live rattle [anake] [uncertain] for quirt and demanded something stronger this he had ever got there before. When the bartender asked the man what he would have, he allowed [hed] [uncertain] take a [ful!] [uncertain] glass of carbohic acid. The man, after taking his drink, said there were some real tough ones where he came from and that they bad just run all the sissies? out of town. But discarding fiction, and dispensing same truth, Tom Soerrod's hobby is the [guthering] [uncertain] of various types of gun, [pistola] [uncertain] and revolvers, and he has collection that ia [cistinetewely] [uncertain] interesting, consisting of about 400 of [vanous] [uncertain] patterns [ond] [uncertain]

PERMANENT INJUNCTION ISSUED

A permanent injunction has been [jaaued] [uncertain] by U. S. District Judgr [soe] [uncertain] Sherhy of the [Eastern Dietrict] [uncertain] of [Tearas] [uncertain] at Tyler, restraining the [Crochett] [uncertain] Livestock Auction and [ita] [uncertain] operator, Otis Parks, from further slaughtering of livestock.

A preliminary injunction was recorded last October 22 against Mr Parks, restraining him from violating the registration and record-keeping regulations of the Office of Price [Stabilization.] [uncertain] Under [Distribution] [uncertain] Hegulation Nu. 1 of the OPS, all slaughterers who [oprated during] 1YDU [uncertain] were required to file with [the] [uncertain] OPS [ase] [uncertain] slaughterers not later than April 30, 1951. The preliminary in- Junction was obtained after Mr. Parks allegedly failed to comply with this regulation.

The permanent Injunction was issued in Tyler last week after Mr. Parka allegedly failed to apply to the OPS by December 16, 1951, for slaughterers permit. Last December 16 was the [final] [uncertain] deadline for sock applications under Amendment 8 of Distribution Regulation I. The OPS allowed that Mr. Parks again failed to file [hia] [uncertain] application by the deadline date and the permanent injunction war ianued- when Mr. Parks failed to [uppeac] [uncertain] in federal out in Tyler last [werk] [uncertain] to answer the [allegatich.] [uncertain] i Judge Sheeby last week also issued a temporary injunction [againat Wilford] [uncertain] Edward Wood of Lufkin, operator of D. Il. Wood Bon, [aleo] [uncertain] a slaughtering firm. The Lofkin concern failed to file a drove compliance form with the [OPEB,] [uncertain] the injunction petition alleged. The form shows the [number]! [uncertain] of head of cattle killed by the firm during [ite] [uncertain] baba period. The company was [reatrained frum] [uncertain] further violations vf OPS regulations.

Enforcement officials in the [Haus-}] [uncertain] ton District OPS report the [Lufkin] [uncertain] firm now has complied with the regulation.
