ERNEST (BUD) HALE [uncertain] ASKS REELECTION TO DISTRICT CLERK

To the People of Houston County:

In announcing my candidacy for reelection, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries, I want to give you a brief summary of my record in office. I have put [into use] [uncertain] the

Cott index system which is recognized [uncertain] throughout the United States as the finest indexing system which has as yet [been] [uncertain] devised. With this system it is a simple matter to find anything which has been recorded within a few seconds. I have also instituted a card index filing system with the name of every man called on each jury panel, showing the date he was called, whether or not he was excused or absent, and whether or not he was [taken on the] [uncertain] jury. Any man who [has] [uncertain] been called on a jury panel within a year can find out at once just when he [was] [uncertain] last called and other information about his service on the [panel.] [uncertain] This information is also very valuable to the District

Judge in determining whether a man is due to be executed when he is called at a future date on [another] [uncertain] panel.

For the past two years have been working with other District Clerks and lawyers in Texas in an effort to have Rule 101 of the Rules of [Civility] [uncertain]

Procedure changed. This change in the Rule has to do with a change in the wording of all citations which has confused [10] [uncertain] many people who are not familiar with Court Procedure.

The wording on these citations before it was changed was one of the factors which caused the rank [injustice] [uncertain] In the new famous case of Wm. Hage-dorn, [uncertain] the [Callwell] [uncertain] county farmer.

The Supreme Court has made the change in the [citation] [uncertain] effective as
