Nice Rain Sunday.

That was a very pleasant rain that fell Sunday. Rained all day and pleased everybody. It was a nice rain, fell nicely, was slowly needed and nicely needed, making everything nice. Hope it will be nice enough to rain again in a couple of nice weeks, some one nicely said.

Rainfall 2.6 Inches.

Monday morning Mr. T. E. Walden advised the Courier that his rain gauge showed 2.6 inches of rainfall in a 24-hour period, beginning Saturday night. The rain gave the soil a good wetting, as much of the water soaked in.

City Welcome Suggested.

Friend Millard suggests the following sign, or one similar, be put up at the city limits of every road entering Crockett: "Six thousand people in Crockett, including a few moonshiners, welcome you." A city of flowers, trees and birds—our moonshiners are our rarest birds, hard to find."

None Have All the Hilarious.

We know a fellow who wants to be a moonshiner—just a single one. He wants to be the whole committee to look into and investigate the matter of moonshine in public. Those who wear shorts need some defense, but it is not fair to come to display an unbecoming attitude when all cannot do so. All are not gifted alike. Some have beauty of mind, others beauty of limb, while others go for goodness and charity.

Features Improve.

Favorable weather has boosted Houston's pasture development. C. V. Hamming, county agent, reveals. More cotton clover is in bloom this month in the county than ever before.

Birthdays are supplying fudge for two cows per acre on many pastures. A combination of oats and legume has carried several acres through the winter with no hay and a small amount of carbohydrates for their cattle. As a result many farmers and ranchmen are beginning to see the value of combining a grass and a legume as a forage crop, Hamming says.
