CROCKETT COURIER: JULY 24, 1932

CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE

Dedicated by a brother, W. W. Aiken, to the memory of his loving and faithful brother, Tom Aiken.

The following meditation on the influence of Christ on the world was written by Joseph Melton Branch:

"He wrote no book, but the world is filled with books concerning Him. He wrote no song, but the world is filled with songs because He lived. He commanded no army and yet millions are honored to be soldiers of the Cross. He wrote no law, but He brushed from the law all the ceremonies and accumulations concerning it, and caused it to shine forth in all its beauty and purity."

"He had no home and yet a million homes, and more, are filled with gladness and hope because of Him. He had no wealth, but the world has been enriched of Him. He built no earthly kingdom of government, but His Kingdom embraces millions of 'every kindred, tribe and tongue of this earth.'"

"He had no children, yet He made a child and children the center of love and the hope of the future. No man could ever love Him, but millions of women have learned the meaning of life and love because of Him. He had the finest industry in the history of mankind, the greatest future of the whole race and yet He came to share it with us."

"He built no school and yet the greatest educators in the world recognize Him as the world's greatest teacher. He built no hospital, but men of healing all over the world recognize in Him the world's greatest healer."

"He came to his own and his own received Him not, yet millions of others have accepted Him."

Declaring that loan sharks in Texas "in numbers and nuisance are now more in evidence than ever before," the Houston County Chamber of Commerce has issued a statement to the effect that it is opposed to the operation of such a business in the county.

In fact, the Chamber favors a properly government-paid typewriter girl for every used business man, who might otherwise be shortening his life by either too much or too little work. A small expense for replacement every fifteen days would be acceptable. It would give more employment in the typewriter factories and more with-holding tax for the government. Yes, it would make typewriters cost more, but the government would get more withholding tax. No, it would not result in too many typewriters on the government, if lower prices were threatened, would buy up the surplus and present them to the flannel queens of darkest Africa, who would convert them into some kind of drum.

We are also in favor of government-paid floor sweeping compound, if the government can give some kind of sweeping machine to do the sweeping. The Courier editor has already put in enough time learning the business to keep him from having to work at it.

"IS COMMUNISM HERE?" Now, why can't we all of us clean up our own premises—and keep them clean—instead of looking to the national government, the state governments, the city governments, the county governments and our school governments to do it for us? The idea of a paternalistic government to do everything for us has been growing—thriving—for twenty years, since the inauguration of the New Deal and the discrediting of Democratic principles. Can we deny that Socialism is not already here? Clean-up campaigns are good, like religious revivals, but if our premises can be cleaned up in a campaign, they can be kept clean. A bath cleans a person, but if you don't keep bathing, your body becomes foul again. Your premises will be just as easy to keep clean as is your body, provided you do not wait for a free bath from the national or city government. The government now "cleans" your "purse." What more do you want it to do? Give you some trash receptacles and then haul them away for you, free of charge? It does nothing free of charge. There are a few things the government may richly do. The citizen cannot build his own water-works system, his own sewerage system or his own highway system. But he may expect to pay for those who built by his government, so the cost falls on himself after all. The government does nothing free, but takes a heavy toll for the operation.

Me—Advising a Banker!

The money and I were invited to dinner over at Belvedere the other night. I sat next to a banker from the state capital.

"Slightly new country you've got down there," he said. "I don't know if I come to live there myself in a few years I plan to get away from everybody, buy a farm and just take it easy."

"Well," I said, "I'd like to have you. But when someone plans to buy a farm and take it easy, he often winds up working harder than ever. I take it you've got a farm right in the matter how many."
