PUBLISHER'S NOTICE

In case of errors or omissions in legal or other advertisements, the publishers do not hold themselves liable for damages, further than the amount received by them for such advertisement. Advertising is accepted only on this basis.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Courier will be gladly corrected upon the being brought to the attention of the management.

The Crockett Courier levies communications for publication when subject is of general interest, and if letter is not abusive or of a personal nature, but all such communications must carry author's signature.

All unsolicited manuscripts, letters and pictures are sent at the risk of the owner.

Obituaries, resolutions, cards of thanks and other matter not "paid," will be charged for at the rate of 25¢ per line.

Papers ordering advertising or printing for societies, churches, committees or organizations of any kind will, in all cases, be held personally responsible for the payment of the bills.

BREAD CAST UPON THE WATER

The Courier editor has before related that his birthplace was near Lake Pickett, near Pine Hill, in east Rusk county, near the Anglo county line. Pamela was the only county between his birthplace and Louisiana, and Shreveport was the largest market place in the area, with a local postoffice, church, store, and sawmills were at Lake Pickett, where the Courier editor, then a boy, sold his horse to get the mail etc.

At Lake Pickett he knew a small crippled boy, known in the town as Bill Cook. Later, when this boy was employed at the county seat in the Henderson Times, he helped this negro boy in getting a job in the Times printing office as janitor. The boy soon learned how to work the old Washington hand press of that day. He next learned how to set type, hand, there being no typesetting machine at that time, and he finally mastered the printer's trade.

Col. R. T. Milner, editor of the Henderson Times, was appointed by Governor Tom Campbell as commissioner of agriculture and later as president of Texas A. & M. college. Col. Milner had the colored boy, Bill Cook, appointed as instructor of the printing art in Prairie View college, A. & M. college for negroes, a position Cook held until his death a few years ago. During his work at Prairie View, Cook wrote a book, which gave Col. Milner due credit for his life's work and education—his life's opportunity. In the book's preface Cook wrote: "The object in writing this book is to record facts about my life, especially to make grateful acknowledgment to those great citizens of Texas, headed by Col. R. T. Milner, who have been such good friends, both while and black, to me for all these years and to show the world how friendship and kindness from some of the best people in the world inspired a little crippled, underprivileged boy to labor and learn the right things, and make a success of life in a way seldom accomplished. Truly, being a cripple and black has been a blessing to me, because it has brought to me the kindness, charity and good will I have enjoyed and tried to deserve."

DESCENT UPON VULGARITY

The atmosphere surrounding the investigation of the HPC by the senate banking and currency subcommittee became cheap and vulgar while the senators were on the trail of E. Merit Young. The fact was not that of the congressional impostors, but the kind of individuals with whom they were dealing.

The recital of how Mrs. Young, White House stenographer, got her $8540 milk cost was not even plausible, nor was the explanation of how her husband borrowed some $135,000 from Joseph H. Rosenbaum, Washington lawyer, who has been credited with having been the best 182 directors in his pocket.

They Can't Do That

West Los Angeles, Calif.—Said Municipal Judge Leo Freund: "Miss Norma Vickers, you are charged with double parking. How do you plead?"

In a duet dance, the beautiful defendant replied: "I don't know."

"Honor, in Texas we can double park as long as someone is in the car who can drive."

Gravely the judge turned to John Rogers, assistant city attorney: "Mr. Rogers, does Texas recognize the right of a woman to double park?"

Just as gravely, Rogers answered: "No, your honor."

"That will be it," Miss Vickers, the judge went on. "And when you are in California, please do as the California laws say."

Miss Vickers paid, and stalked out. The object in writing this book is to record facts about my life, especially to make grateful acknowledgment to those great citizens of Texas, headed by Col. R. T. Milner, who have been such good friends, both while and black, to me for all these years and to show the world how friendship and kindness from some of the best people in the world inspired a little crippled, underprivileged boy to labor and learn the right things, and make a success of life in a way seldom accomplished. Truly, being a cripple and black has been a blessing to me, because it has brought to me the kindness, charity and good will I have enjoyed and tried to deserve."

The Courier editor believes the above quoted paragraph will be of interest to its readers. Truly, it was bread cast upon the waters that returned bountifully. It is especially interesting to the Courier editor because of his familiarity with the details.

Two Democratic Principles

We prefer to be Democrats, not to the extent of being anti-Democratic. We prefer to be right, rather than wrong. We prefer to follow our own consciences rather than a false political label. Socialists and other leftists have no right to wear the Democratic label, and we shall not follow, being Democrats, the directions of that label. Those falsely following the Democratic label should be thrown out by those of us who prefer and propose to remain in the party. Democratic principles mean more than a mere political label.

One and the Same

A suburbanite sitting at his window one evening casually called to his wife: "There goes that woman (Charley Jones) so to tell you with the Democratic label, and we shall not follow, being Democrats, the directions of that label. Those falsely following the Democratic label should be thrown out by those of us who prefer and propose to remain in the party. Democratic principles mean more than a mere political label."

May He's Far-Reaching

Two elderly respected "suburban citizens" were discussing the word "authority," when one of them expressed himself by declaring that the meaning or usual result of the word was none too good. His lamentation was about as follows: "Give a nigger a little authority and he thinks that he is bigger and better than other niggers, and he is in too big a hurry to use his authority."

Most Precious Heritage

Freedom of worship.
Freedom of speech.
Freedom of the press.
Freedom of peaceful assembly.
Each of these liberties has its importance in the first amendment to the United States constitution.
"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."
