BIRTHDAY HAPPINESS

Dear Mr. Aiken:
There's much more in these flowers Than you could ever guess;
A hundred friendly wishes And that this year—and many more Will bring life's best to you.
From Boba and Willie Hayne Collins Mr. and Mrs. Collins will please accept the Courier editor's thanks for this generous expression of their thoughts and wishes at the beginning of another year for the Courier editor.

SOMETHING TO SHOOT AT

All of these nice birthday greetings The Courier editor has been getting are setting a high target for the Courier to shoot at in the future.
People are going to expect something good of him that he may not be able to make good on. He has always been ambitious to accomplish something worth while, but has never succeeded to his own satisfaction, or very much to the satisfaction of some friends. He is going to have to get a jump on himself if he lives up to the encomiums of praise spilled all over him. He appreciates all of these good things said of him and to him so much that he may decide to just let it stand at that, for fear of some of his friends who might have to have a straight line run after a life of eighty years, in and out, or off and on.

GEORGE ALVIN POE

long resident of Crockett and Houston counties. He was a member of the about two miles north of Crockett on

Why It Is Thos or Thualy.

This bachelor editor, on [beutig] [uncertain] asked why he had never married, could think of no other answer than that he was always too alow, resulting in the [gir! mafrying] [uncertain] the ether follow. As an lustration of his philosophy, he told this story: A [Crockett] [uncertain] man pound 4 snake on his lawn and, while te [wae] [uncertain] figuring the best way to dispatch the reptile, his wife got a hoe and chopped [ite] [uncertain] bead off. The comparison is in tended to mean that while this editor was figuring [oul,] [uncertain] or trying to figure out, how two could live as cheaply as one, the girl took over his com-' [petitor,] [uncertain] This editor, too alow in his calculations, never got anywhere.
