RELIEF CASEWORKER HERE FOR STORM REHABILITATION

Mr. Willie Hall Jr., chairman of the Houston County Red Cross chapter, has told us that Mrs. Sadie Stohl, disaster caseworker from the national Red Cross office in St. Louis, Mo., arrived in Crockett Tuesday to assist local Red Cross workers with the rehabilitation of families who were victims of last Thursday's tornado.

At this time 25 families have made application to Red Cross for such assistance. Houston county chapter has met all emergency needs of disaster victims for food and clothing up to this time.

At a meeting called by J. A. Dymond, Red Cross disaster chairman, attended by officers of the local chapter and interested citizens from the Lovelady area, Mrs. Stohl discussed Red Cross policy and procedures for assisting families.

Assistance can take any form that might be required to help a family provided that need is caused by the tornado and a family does not have resources of their own to meet the need. It can be essential food and clothing; repairs or replacement of owner-occupied homes; essential household furnishings and, in some instances, farm supplies and equipment.

A family's resources are insurance, cash, savings, earnings, credit and help from relatives and friends. Mrs. Stohl explained essential need as the gap between what a family has to live on and what it needs to live on. A family can supply through their own resources; that Red Cross is not a disaster insurance agency replacing total losses.

She also stated Red Cross does not make loans to disaster victims; that any help a family receives from Red Cross is an outright gift. Each application for assistance will receive individual consideration. Plans will be discussed in detail with the head of the family. Red Cross must verify home ownership, earnings and other resources and liabilities. The Red Cross caseworker will, as quickly as possible, visit all families who have made application for assistance. When plans for rehabilitation have been completed, caseworkers will then view, with an advisory committee of local citizens, the final plans for each family.

The Red Cross disaster relief is made possible by the generous support given during the annual campaign for funds in March of each year. Your loyal support and contributions to Houston county's campaign in disaster relief program.
