COTTON ACREAGE
ALLOTMENT [OUTLOOK.]
[uncertain]

The secretary of [sgriculture] [uncertain] has instructed all county offices lo compute [154] [uncertain] cotton acreage allotments and have them ready to mall to al) cotton producers, if possible, not later-than December 15, should [It] [uncertain] become necea-! [sary] [uncertain] to call a referendum. The secret: [tury] [uncertain] will call a referendum by October 1h, if he [deema] [uncertain] it necessary, depend ing on [eurpluses] [uncertain] and [thie] [uncertain] years estimated production. If the referendum is called, It will require a two-thirds favorable majority vote by the cotton farmers of the nation before allot. [nienta] [uncertain] will become effective for 1054.

Also, in this connection, we are wal [pecting] [uncertain] to receive [inetructions] [uncertain] soon authorizing the county committee to measure all 1953 cotton acreages. In

Joining tetter and mote accurate rotten history will be available to [estabisch] [uncertain] 1956 cotton acreage

THIS WILD-RIDING EDITOR
LOOKS

This wild riding editor got in [hiv;] [uncertain] highway saddle, foot in each stirrup, again Sunday afternoon, His first observance was that beautiful? shad- ed landscape at the pretty homes of Hob Overatreet and. Big Dooley Dawson. A cooling" [breete] [uncertain] through that wonderful grove fanned the editors [cheek—plenty] [uncertain] of which he always has.

[nington,] [uncertain] and headed for Possum Walk over a well-paved road. There fs more ina [lown] [uncertain] than lte name. [It ié] [uncertain] an old-time pioneer community with a pleasing, home-like appearance.

[lidme] [uncertain] x.home wherever we go, and is always a good place to return to.

The editors next turn was lo the right, which turd he followed through that pretty, level Friday country of [Prospercus-looking] [uncertain] homes and pas- [tures, This] [uncertain] highway le projected to reach Levelady when completed [fram] [uncertain] the Trinity county line to the con- [necting] [uncertain] line from Lovelady.

The editor turned at the end of the pavement. Tracing his steps back toward Crockett, he turned at Shady Grove toward! Arbor, following pave- [ment] [uncertain] lined well with prosperous-ap- [pearing] [uncertain] homes, with Beautiful growths of trees between, [Obkd-time] [uncertain] farm hames, dotted between newer ones, give a most favorable Impression of that section. Several branches flow into White Rock creek, which are crossed before reaching Arbor. Arbor is surrounded with green, level pase turns [aml!] [uncertain] large, waving [(ree—a) [uncertain] hos- [pitable] [uncertain] invitation and wave. Or it may be that Arbor gets its name [J] fion [uncertain] the old arbor on the hill, in front Jot which, [acroas] [uncertain] the road, that pretty, new church, electrically equipped, was [TI] [uncertain] recently constructed and [dedheated.] [uncertain] It is altogether a pleasing scene.
