Frank Parrish of Rt 1, Crockett, was in the Courier office the other day and he was all enthused about going coon hunting down his way, He told of time that George Elilott

McLean, Jack Patton, Jesse Woolley, LeRoy Smith and Jack Ashby went) on coon hunt and what an exciting good night they had running with the, coon dogs over field and stream. Fin- j ally the [doga] [uncertain] managed to get the coon up in the tree. That night a negro with them had to climb the tree lo.

get the coon, but the coon gave the negro static and fought beck, plenty!

Finally, instead of the negro getting the coon, the coon fought back with" [auch] [uncertain] tenacity that the negro backed off out on the tomb! Every time the:

negro made a moms the coon would fight beck at him and there the negro [atayed] [uncertain] on the limb scared to death and to the coons advantage.
Someone suggested that one of the men in the party climb the tree to help out, to which t [waa] [uncertain] generally and most em- [phatically] [uncertain] agreed that it would take something [beaides] [uncertain] a gun to keep them up there beside or near that coon!

They finally got the coon out of the tree. The coon fell into the creek just underneath the limb where the coon was glued" for a time and when the coon fell the good old faithful coon dog pounced In after him. A fight to the [finlsh,] [uncertain] or until at least one [wae] [uncertain] finished ensued and for e [Ume] [uncertain] it was thought that it was going to be the dogs life however, another coon dog standing by on the back
