The longer average life span today is proof of the fact that most people call their doctor without delay when they are sick. It is just as important to see your doctor when you ARE WELL—for a regular and careful checkup twice a year. WHITENESS OF FIELD AND HUGENESS OF CROP REVEALED

The Courier editor took another ride Sunday afternoon. He picked a road that would not be overrun by the code crowd. Leaving Crockett he headed west over one of the very pretty drives in Houston county—the Porter Springs road. Pretty homes, shady pastures, rolling hills, form an attractive and enjoyable view. Any one wishing to take an enjoyable ride cannot do better than to select the Porter Springs highway. People living along this boulevard and at Porter Springs are to be envied. They are appreciative, but perhaps not enough.

FARM NEWS BY DAVE C. TILLER JR., COUNTY AGENT

We need more grass to produce more pounds of beef and more pounds of milk per acre. One method in approaching this problem is to rid our pastures of brush and trees, so the grasses and clovers will have a chance to survive. Farmers and ranchers in Houston county and elsewhere are looking for the cheapest and best way to meet this problem. Tree and brush control has been tackled from the mechanical means and also by use of chemicals.

BULLDOGS GO TO KIRBYVILLE FOR FIRST TITLE TILT

Coaches J. T. Owen and Ralph Burnett will take their Crockett High Bulldogs to Kirbyville Friday night to open district 18-AA play. The non-conference play in the championship hunt is on in full swing. Kirbyville has had in-and-out success in non-conference play. They lost to Newton 6-12 and Groveson 0-7, before dropping their first victory at Fort Acres 19-11. Their next contest was at Winnie-Roswell, the result of which we have never learned. Last week they dropped a game to Sour Lake 0-13. All Kirbyville's games have been against class A and B clubs, but some of them are strong in their class.

SIGN AND HOGS PREVENT SALE

A steer land owner put a sign on a tree to mark the height of the last overflow. Forgetting or overlooking the sign, he was showing a promising buyer over the fence. Coming to the tree with the sign on it, the probable buyer curiously observed the depth of the overflow. The sign was not there, however, was quick to explain that the water was not anything like that high, but that he had put the sign up to where his "side" could not see it. Observing watermarks on the tree, the disturbed purchaser pointed them out, to which the land owner replied that he had watermarks, granted. CROCKETT, TEXAS,

JOUR TEACHERS HAVE MUCH TO THINK OF

Albemarle, [N,C.,] [uncertain] October 10, 1953 i Mr. W. W. Alken at Editor Courier, Crockett, Texas. Dear Bir:

According to the best information we are short In America, In primary and high school teachers, around 160, 000 to 200,000. Thie fact alone makes jt impossible for the teachers to de their beat work for our children, They cannot give individual attention, or be able to study the [childrens] [uncertain] problem, because of the great amount of work required. The problem is how to get more teachers.

The schools of higher education should [sdvise] [uncertain] the college students of the great opportunity that they will have if they take up the profession of teaching in making the world a bet- [ter] [uncertain] place in which to live. They should be told, and the fact emphasized, that teachers, next to the parents, home and church, do more to shape the life of children than any other people.

Teaching in public schools must put the emphasis on the American history wrought by [oor] [uncertain] forefathers and left to us a a heritage to carry on,

About two years ago a poll, taken

In high schools in some of the largest

Citles, showed the [atudents] [uncertain] knew prac- [ttrally] [uncertain] nothing about the Declaration of Independence, Hill of Rights or our [Constitution.] [uncertain] The meaning of these great documents, along with the fol- lowing twelve fundamental truths, should be stressed In cur school.
