John Williams, (col.)
Crockett, Texas.

Dear Williams:

Hunter Watson, a member of your Lovelyday N. F. A. chapter, has been adjudged the Star Modern Farmer of Texas. As a result he has been chosen to appear on a network radio program
with a possibility of television appearances.

On the radio program, Watson will be asked questions about his super-

I am sorry that I do not know the exact time of the program. Judging the past, it will take place at 12 noon until 12:15 p. m. Four persons, two boys and two girls, will consume the 15 minutes, plus one or two commercial dealers; therefore, each person should be able to express many facts with a few words.

As Watson's adviser you are to be congratulated along with the boy for this outstanding accomplishment. It is our desire that you encourage advancement in N. E. A. degree for the young man as well as a follow-through of his farming program.

Please have Watson at the Pairsair View exhibit in the general Agriculture building.

profound truths that [Americans]

American way of [ife] [uncertain] the moral law that honest effort is the price of rub- [stantial] [uncertain] things le said,
also, that" we cannot [pollce] [uncertain]

[uncertain] them to adopt our kind of [goremment.] [uncertain]

We must not lose ourselves in [ralngiorious] [uncertain] schemes to change the natures ef other peoples," Morrow [sald] [uncertain]

In the two points he cited, Morrow spotlighted the two factors which have done most to lead this country down the road to bankruptcy, [domestic] [uncertain]
welfarism and indiscriminate foreign aid.
In the last [ecveral] [uncertain] years
American public opinion has swung along way back toward individual! [Initiative] [uncertain] in our own lives and away from the idea that we must waste billions in futile attempts to buy the friendship of people of other [natiuna,] [uncertain] te keep them from becoming Communists.
But we still) have a long way to go in reversing the trend which threatens to wreck us from within, by undermining our economic stability.

Morrow spoke at special convocation
of Howard Payne College, at which an honorary degree of doctor of law was conferred on him and an honorary degree of doctor of literature was given [Mrs.] [uncertain] Morrow, a talented writer and speaker. The awards were a deserved tribute to [thie oatstanding Amerxan

TENDER [MEAT"] [uncertain] FROM GRASS:

FED CATTLE

College [Station. More] [uncertain]
grass fed catUe are going to market this fall than ever before. That means more beef for family [cating,] [uncertain] at [pneea] [uncertain] comparatively lower than some other types of meat. According to Roy Snyder, meat specialist for the Texas Extension Service, [famillea] [uncertain] can profitably serve beef
dishes new at a aar- Ing on their must bill,
If is an accepted fact that beef from grass [catthe] [uncertain] will not produce the quality that is [usualiy] [uncertain] obtained from grain fed beef. Then to have that excellent meat dish whether it ls [ateak,] [uncertain] roast or stew from this fall run of cattle, a maximum use of tenderizing methods should be understood not only by those selling meat in the markets, but also by the cook.

Saoyder says there are four methods of tenderizing meat, the first [tro] [uncertain]
being the [reepenaibility] [uncertain] of the packer or meat market. They are aging in the [carvase] [uncertain] or wholesale cut at 38 degrees Fahrenheit, and the pounding or tenderizing by machine. The other methods are by marination and

Crockett Courier — October 22, 1953

treating with a commercially prepared [tenderiser.] [uncertain] This is the cook's responsibility and can be done at home.

Different grades of meat have different aging times, because usually the fatter [anima] [uncertain] can be held longer in an aging room than those with less fat. Prime grade [brief] [uncertain] may be aged longer than commercial or utility, because the amount of external fat of the [carcase] [uncertain]. We always think of young [animale] [uncertain] being more tender than old," Snyder says. But you can fatten a three-year old [atecr] [uncertain] and properly age the meat for [cxcellemt] [uncertain] eating, whereas the young [anima] [uncertain] with no fat covering does not need to be improved with aging."

Meat from a choice animal weighing a thousand pounds could be aged for two to three weeks, but a good calf of 500 [pounde] [uncertain] may be choice [cating] [uncertain] in 6 or 7 days. The age and [amvuunt] [uncertain] of fat make the difference. A high quality animal could be aged from 30 to 60 days and be very tender and tasteful eating if special aging rooms such as commercial concerns are building today, are used.

Home [tetidriting] [uncertain] meat from lower [atade] [uncertain] cattle can be done by pounding if the cut is to be broiled or [pan-] [uncertain] fried. [Tendering] [uncertain] can also be done with [commerially] [uncertain] prepared materials containing [protoletic™] [uncertain] enzyme which really pre-digests the meat to a certain extent. Usually these products are applied to the meat 20 to 30 minutes before the meat is cooked.

Feed lots are [belng] [uncertain] depleted of high quality beef right now," Snyder says. Fall is always time for high percent of grease feed cattle to go [Wo] [uncertain] market, and as a general rule, they do not yield the quality of meat [from] [uncertain] grain fed animals. Methods of improving or tenderizing the meat are practical and should be considered by the good cook."

[Mra] [uncertain] Bernice Claytor, home man- [agement] [uncertain] specialist for the Texas Extension Service, says Fire Prevention

Week, [October 10,] [uncertain] is a good time to check your closet, attic and basement for cast-off articles that would burn easily. They could be curtains, draperies, tablecloths, bedclothes, lamp shades, coats, [sults,] [uncertain] dresses, wicker and wooden furniture, rugs and [lineleym.] [uncertain]

[Check] [uncertain] your wiring system. Many, [electrical] [uncertain] fires happen in [hotnes] [uncertain] every day, most of them simply because of carelessness [Fre. quently,] [uncertain] families will [overload] [uncertain] circuit by plugging in too many appliances [ances] [uncertain] to a single [outlet.] [uncertain] Worn out cords, wires strung all over the house, under rugs or staples to [baseboard] [uncertain] and door frames, are [all] [uncertain] fire [hazards,] [uncertain]

Take a look at your electrical system

Buy new plugs and cords if yours are worn. It is wise to get advice from an electrician if your fuse blows frequently. His advice may prevent a bad fire if the system is dangerously overloaded.

Look over your heating system.

Every winter costly fires are started by faulty [stove,] [uncertain] furnaces and other heating devices. Some result from too much soot in chimneys. Others are caused by rusted or [cracked] [uncertain] pipes and fittings. If your chimney needs

It, clean it [out.] [uncertain] If the pipes and connections are cracked and rusted, replace them.

Train your family not to put magazines, papers, or clothing on radiators or near open fire places or stoves.

Keep paper shades away from contact with light bulb [Remember,] [uncertain] such things [don't] [uncertain] have to touch flame to [burn—they] [uncertain] will catch fire [sitoply] [uncertain] because they [are too] [uncertain] close to [the] [uncertain] best fireproofing,

Learn about methods of making [materis] [uncertain] fire resistant. You can make [matensle] [uncertain] completely fireproof but you can make many of them fire resistant by treating or coating with certain [chemicale.] [uncertain] Some fabrics like drapery and furniture covering are treated at the factory.
