PRESS AND PRESIDENT.

Conduct of some [reorters] [uncertain] at [Elsen-/ hower preas] [uncertain] conferences s s shame). and reproach to the segment of the American press they represent.

Washington [correspondenta] [uncertain] of three or four lcft-wing newspapers have made a practice of ganging up on Eisenhower so as to monopolize the conferences.

Crockett Courier — November 26, 1953

They couch their questions in hype [thetical] [uncertain] terms so that any answer the president might make will put him on the spot. They phrase them so to advance their own views instead of developing those of the president.

At the conference last Tuesday they led the interrogatory so as to deride the president for permitting [Brownell] [uncertain] to bring up the White case. One reporter uttered the fiction that a grand jury had cleared White. Another condemned the whole affair as [aqualld.] [uncertain]

These questionable ethics are of piece with the unfair fight the [leftwing] [uncertain] press has made upon Sen. Joe McCarthy. By the processes of selection [uncertain] and emphasis they have [atriven] [uncertain] to stamp McCarthy as merciless persecutor of innocent persons who hunt witches, burn books and [gugwitnesses.] [uncertain]

The News is happy to say that these special pleaders are in a substantial minority. Most of the Washington reporters approach the president in an attitude of [teepect] [uncertain] with questions designed to [clicit] [uncertain] his views, not [Lneirs.] [uncertain] Dallas [Newer.] [uncertain]

WHERE ELIMINATION IS NEEDED MOST.

Americans who truly love their country and wish to preserve [ita freedora] [uncertain] and independence will join President Eisenhower in the hope that the need for [congressiona] investigation [uncertain] of spy infiltration will be eliminated. [Inated.] [uncertain]

That does not mean that we should let down our guard so that subversives can worm their way into the post of [governm, fill] [uncertain] other like posts with their fellow travelers and win promotion in the process.

Neither should there be read into the president's statement the implication that he condemns congressional probes or is suggesting that they be eliminated until the [subversives] [uncertain] themselves are eliminated.

Probes by congress virtually forced a reluctant executive department [un-] [uncertain] [der] [uncertain] Truman to make its own loyalty checks. These checks still are in progress. As a result 462 federal employees were fired in the last four, and one-half years of Truman; 63 [werr] [uncertain] fired in the first ten months of Eisenhower.

The country is made safer by their departure. That's to the everlasting credit of [McCarthyism.] [uncertain] Washington [correspondents] [uncertain] of near-pink newspapers have been needling [Eisenhower] [uncertain] to repudiate McCarthy. He refused.

[Wednesday] [uncertain] they demanded to [kaw] [uncertain] if he embraced it, as if that were more reprehensible than [embracing] [uncertain] Miss or promoting White. He told the reporter he would let the correspondents [Kruup] [uncertain] answer that. [Wf] [uncertain] McCarthyism symbolizes the efforts of congressional committees to drive traitors out of government, it may be embraced as what Hobbes told London it was: True [Americanism.—Dallas] [uncertain] News.

[IS] [uncertain] IMMORALITY NEARING CLIMAX?

The kidnapping and murder of six-year-old boy by a man and so man who were tried in [Kaneas] [uncertain] City last week and sentenced to death is the outgrowth of a perilous [condition] [uncertain] resulting from the immorality of our country. As the country grows, murder, thieving, lying and debauchery [erem] [uncertain] to more than keep pace. It is a perilous condition we are approaching, if we are not already there. Neither life or [property] [uncertain] is safe. The juvenile delinquency of today produces the criminals of tomorrow. Love for [nioney] [uncertain] is not the only [cause.] [uncertain] for there was more honesty, uprightness and [Jess] [uncertain] chime when people had less money. There is an old saying that too much money is worse for people than not enough. For twenty years now the country has experienced a siege of immorality heretofore unknown in our [country's] [uncertain] history. Is there any wonder the debauchery, robbery, kidnapping and [geurder] [uncertain] are the result?

LAY ON, McDUFF.

If it was good, why not cheapen our money some [more.] [uncertain] again put what [ills] [uncertain] taken [uff] [uncertain] into more [money] [uncertain] and thus make everybody rich again?

With the false prosperity thus created—the [uncertain] greatest Truman ever [saw—] [uncertain] prices will take another upward climb, the more abundant life will again possess us and all will [again] [uncertain] high, wide [and] [uncertain] handsome for awhile. We can then have [another] [uncertain] stockpile of [succumb] [uncertain] in [Washington] [uncertain] to lead us in further socialistic endeavors [uncertain] if there are no Democrats like Martin Dies and Republicanism like

McCarthy to loathe us by showing us up. And if it had not been for Martin Dies and McCarthy, the communists [uncertain] in Washington would continue to live on the fat of the land.

Verily, the New Deal and the Fair

Deal were offsprings of socialism, as proved by recent [tactics] [uncertain] [uncertain] postures, Lay on, McDuff, lay. [and] [uncertain] and cursed be them who say [bold,] [uncertain] enough. INTERNATIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES.

Together our two nations on [the] [uncertain] North American continent are the envy of the world. We are finding, however, that the possession of these advantages things in its train a great many responsibilities. We are finding that we cannot forever ignore the needs of our fellow-men, and that if we do we [will] [uncertain] end by having to defend by physical force the homes and [bearings] [uncertain] of which we [are] [uncertain] proud.

Crockett Courier — November 26, 1953

This has always been so throughout history. In feudal times the lord of the manor, who had advantages, was [teeponsible] [uncertain] for the welfare of his tenants and his retinue of armed retainers. In modern times the representatives of the people, who have advantages, are expected to spend some of their time, in-between elections, in acting to it that the welfare of their constituents is [advanced.—] [uncertain] Ambridge.

Uplift the masses of the people in this country of all races, but especially those of the Gentile race, turn back to God and [detrmine] [uncertain] to live in accordance with His word, this country will become another Haiti or Puerto Rico and will [become] [uncertain] the laughing stock of a godless world. There is no human mind that can work [ou\] [uncertain] the [intricate] [uncertain] complex probes of [thi] [uncertain] Lion aside from Divine direction. Any race that is not proud of its own and not willing to live with its own has no future to which it can look with yearning and desire. Any [recreate] [uncertain] has become so perverted as to be willing to be amalgamated with any other race is not worth having. They have [forgetien] [uncertain] God according to His word and will be cast into hell with all other wicked [men.—Tom] [uncertain] Linder, commissioner of

Back in the days of our Pilgrim fathers they gave thanks for a good harvest and good [fellowship.] [uncertain] Our Thanksgiving holiday, while it has always carried the [tradition] [uncertain] of the groaning board, has kept the prayer-[ful] [uncertain] significance of especial day of giving thanks, not only "for the food that we put in our mouths, but for the spiritual food that we feed our families, and the family traditions that have grown up through the generations [uncertain] of our special family.

STENCH FROM DAYS OF TRUMAN RULE

[To] [uncertain] the Dallas News: Mrs. Roosevelt is quoted on the White [epy] [uncertain] scandal to the effect that, during the time White held high office [uncertain] in) Washington, Everybody was suspicious of everybody elect."

That should take the price as the most stupendous understatement in [little] [uncertain] whole controversy! What she is about have [said] [uncertain] is that nobody [was] [uncertain] suspicious of anybody during the Roosevelt-Truman administrations. HELEN FARRIS TINKLE WELL MAKES OIL

A new [oi] field [uncertain] was opened In Mad-

[Inon] [uncertain] county Wednesday afternoon when, on a drill-atem teat, 6930 feet of [oll] [uncertain] were recovered from the Helen Farris Tinkle No. 1.

The wildcat [waa] [uncertain] tested at 277 to [9417] [uncertain] feet In the Duda limestone for- nation. It ls [belng] [uncertain] cored ahead on plans to teat the Georgetown lime.

Drilling [wij!] [uncertain] probably go to 9600 feet, according to Engineer C. W.

[illegible or non-text passage omitted —

Competent observers estimated that, the new well was making about [two}] [uncertain] barrels per minute. There was no in-[Meatlon] [uncertain] of salt water. In making, the drill-atem test as they started, out of the hole with the pipe, the well unloaded, shooting [ol]] [uncertain] almost to the top of the derrick.

This [well!] [uncertain] is of much interest since it is seven or eight miles from the nearest production, the wells on the;

[W.] [uncertain] M. Forrest land. The Tinkle well is eight miles northeast of Madison- [ville] [uncertain] and two miles west of Midway.
